

Mayor Cruse breaks 7-7 tie GC council disconnects 5% telephone tax

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

A 5 percent reduction in telephone bills was approved for Granite City residents by the City Council Tuesday night.

The tax rescindment will mean a loss of approximately $250,000 per year in city revenue.

ALDERMAN CASMER Skubish, 1st Ward, brought up the motion, saying the city's voters directed the council to do so. The motion was seconded by 3rd Ward Alderman Brett Hanke.

Residents voted in April to discontinue the tax by more than a 3 to 1 margin.

The petition drive and subsequent placement of the issue on the ballot was led by Mayor Von Dee Cruse.

ALDERMEN were divided about rescinding the tax. The vote was 7 to 7.

The tie made it necessary for Cruse to cast his vote, resulting in the repeal.

Cruse paused before responding.

"I'M REALLY IN favor of holding off this vote for two weeks until the budget is in, but that isn't what the motion on the floor is," Cruse said.

"I'm for rescinding it — I vote yes."

The vote's timing affected the decision of several aldermen who said they favored waiting until the city budget is prepared before voting on rescindment.

"We have two weeks to go before we have the budget in front of the aldermen," said 5th Ward Alderman Jake Varadian. "I don't believe two more weeks will make that much of a difference."

"I BELIEVE YOU'RE (Skubish) putting a lot of aldermen on the spot."

Agreeing was Seventh Ward Alderman Michael Modrusic.

"I think we have to wait until we see the budget," Modrusic said.

"There was no date stated in the referendum for when we had to take this tax off."

OTHER ALDERMEN had questions about how the city is going to replace the tax.

"I've heard it said take off the phone tax and put it on the property tax," said 3rd Ward Alderman Paul Fisk.

"We're just reversing the situation. I don't understand this kind of thinking."

"This is like robbing Peter to pay

Paul," said 4th Ward Alderwoman Sharon Perjak. "At the time this tax was put on, it was the fairest tax. It's very irresponsible to act on this right now."

SKUBISH COUNTERED by saying the issue would have to be faced now or later.

"We've heard from the people of Granite City," he said. "I say we face the situation now."

After lengthy discussion, a roll call vote was taken.

THOSE ALDERMEN voting in favor of rescinding the tax were Skubish, Hanke, Varadian, Sam Whitner, Pat Schuman and Phillip Miller.

Those aldermen voting to keep the tax were Fisk, Perjak, Everett Morlen, Woody Mead, Judy Whitaker and Jeff Worthen.

Some ironies apparent in tax vote comparison

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

Irony was evident in the telephone tax repeal by the Granite City Council Tuesday.

Comparing the repeal to the approval of the tax in December 1981 reveals several contradictions.

FOR INSTANCE, several aldermen who were in favor of the tax in 1981 voted to outlaw the tax in 1985.

In 1981, a roll call vote shows that aldermen Sam Whitner and Casmer Skubish voted in favor of the tax. In 1985, the pair voted to remove the tax with Skubish spearheading the move.

On the flip side of the coin, aldermen Michael Modrusic and Sharon Perjak voted in 1981 against the tax. In 1985, they voted to keep the tax.

ANOTHER IRONY is that both votes resulted in 7 to 7 ties. In 1981, former Mayor Paul Schuler broke the tie for the tax. In 1985, (Continued on Page 11)

Citizens to honor Walker in Venice

By VALERIE EVDEN

An appreciation reception and the dedication of a library honoring former Urban League Director Willie P. Walker and his wife, Frizell, are planned at 6 p.m. Saturday, June 22.

The public event will take place at New Salem Missionary Baptist Church, 1349 Klein St., Venice.

WALKER, 43, is the former executive director of the Madison County Urban League Inc.

He and his family left this area last week to make their future home in Dayton, Ohio.

Walker formally resigned the Madison County Urban League post in March to accept the position as president of the Urban League in Dayton.

DURING THE RECEPTION, New Salem Baptist Church will dedicate a new library at the church in honor of Walker. Mr. and Mrs. Walker are members of New Salem.

The Rev. John Henry Williams, pastor, said the public is invited to attend the reception and dedicatory program, which will be held in the church's multipurpose building.

PROCLAMATIONS recognizing the accomplishments of the former Urban League director will be read by Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols and Madison Mayor John Bellico, according to Thelma Thompson, chairman of the reception.

Representatives from area school boards and other official entities have been invited to take part in the celebration.

ST. JOSEPH HOSPITAL, Alton, where Mrs. Walker was employed as a nurse for eight years prior to the family's move to Ohio, also will make a presentation, it was announced.

"We invite the public to join us in showing the Walkers how much we appreciate the services they have rendered to the communities of Venice, Madison and Alton," the committee chairman said.

WALKER IS A former teacher at the Venice Grade School and an instructor at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center. He also is a former member of the Madison Board of Education.

He was with the Urban League of Madison County for seven years and was the organization's first permanent director. He has been involved in the Urban League movement for more than 12 years.

Madison police officer resigns post

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

The resignation of Thomas Voloski, a 15-year veteran of the Madison Police Department, and new appointments by Mayor John Bellico were accepted at a Madison City Council meeting Tuesday night.

Appointees include Eldon Rhoads as fire chief.

Voloski in his letter of resignation said in part, "I find it difficult to operate effectively as a police officer for the residents of Madison. My resignation will take effect after the completion of my scheduled vacation days July 1. I'd like to thank the citizens of Madison for allowing me to serve them for the past 15½ years in an effective and efficient manner."

WITH THE LOSS of Voloski the police department is operating now with 10 officers, including Chief of Police William Papa, Detective Paul Bargiel and eight officers, including two, William Fanning and Donald Bridick, both presently on sick leave.

Mayor Bellico announced he will submit a 15-man auxiliary police unit proposal to the aldermen for consideration at the July 2 meeting.

"The auxiliary unit will serve at school functions, city parades and other events, thereby releasing a police officer for other departmental duties," the mayor commented.

POLICE REPORTS for April and May, compiled by Chief Papa, listed fines collected in April of $2,096 and in May of $3,470. Arrests totaled 141 adults and four juveniles in April and 141 adults and 17 juveniles in May.

Appointments to city departments were announced by the mayor and approved by the aldermen.

They include Rhoads, formerly chief of the fire department, who will return to duty as fire chief.

HIS ORIGINAL appointment as fire chief began in May 1970, when he succeeded Edward J. Miller, the chief from 1957 to 1970.

Robert Hollenbeck was named Tuesday night as assistant fire chief and ambulance coordinator; Robert Bosworth, captain; and Richard Robbins, lieutenant.

Firemen and emergency medical technicians include Fred Finazzo, Rob Robbins, Mike Foley, Delbert Smith, Kevin Sipes, Leonard Bringer and Gene Robertson. Other firemen are Andrew Economy, Vasil Graville, William Hlava, Otis Hollenbeck, Joseph Kalela, Robert Papa, James Shipcoff, Charles Voloski and George Wallace.

CADET FIREMEN include Don Whitecotton, Mark Rhoads, Dan Sipes, Gene Robertson, Keith Endicott, Joe Bisto, Ron Grzywacs Jr., Charles Asperger, John Lake and Jeffery Briddick.

Those named to the Police Board of Commissioners were Joe J. Asperger for a one-year term, Harvey Hayes, two years, and Paul Lumsford, three years.

George L. Smith, a former teacher, coach, athletic director and principal, was appointed assistant Madison recreation director; Larry Thomas DeDough, assistant city building inspector; and Ron Grzywacs Jr., humane officer.

PRIOR TO announcement of fire department appointments, Alderman William Gushleff read an ordinance amending Ordinance 1026, giving the mayor the right to appoint the fire chief from among persons not currently on the department.

The former ordinance wording called for the fire chief to be appointed from within the ranks of the department.

The mayor said the amendment does not change any other rules relating to requirements and operation of the fire department.

GUSHLEFF ASKED the mayor if the new fire chief would be required to take EMT (emergency medical technician) training and Bellico said no, the chief would not be required.

Alderman Robert Grieve said, "I think the chief should have training if anyone on the department should." Bellico answered that Rhoads was on the department for many years prior to his retirement, and will possibly serve only a year.

"He is going to work with the young men who are beginning their career as firemen," the mayor commented.

MESD unwilling to operate groundwater well

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

The Metro East Sanitary District will not get directly involved in operation of a well in the Dobrey Slough area, but it will be willing to help find a solution aimed at keeping the well.

MESD Executive Director Shang Greathouse said Wednesday there is "no way" the district can take over the well's operation. The well was installed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers between Hemlock and Pine streets last January to help with drainage problems in Nameoki Township.

GREATHOUSE SAID he met

Tuesday with representatives of the Corps and Hurs-Rosche Engineers Inc., MESD's engineers.

"I don't think it's our duty to operate the well," Greathouse said. "But we are willing to sit down with other entities and try to work something out with them."

Helen Hawkins of Nameoki Township, a former town board member, had asked MESD to get involved with the well June 5.

"But that whole operation would be very slow and very costly," Greathouse said.

"IN THE FIRST 48 hours, we could drop the (underground) water level by a foot. But in the next 30 days it wouldn't even go down another half foot. And once you stop pumping, it's going to go right back up."

"There's no question something needs to be done out there. But the levee district just can't do it themselves."

Greathouse said the Corps of Engineers installed an 8-inch pipe 103 feet into the ground and used a pump which could pump water at 450 gallons per minute.

"MIKE NAVIN of the Corps said he felt the 450 gallons per minute pump would be feasible to do the job," Greathouse said. "But for us to do that we would have to run pumps 24 hours a day."

"We got this district back into good (financial) shape two years ago by staying out of projects like this. We're here to pump surface water out."

"If we start with a project here, then somebody in another neighborhood would want us to help there, and I wouldn't blame them a bit. But if we start there, where do you stop? We might end up with 10 or 20 of them."

EVEN WITH PUMP going "full blast" constantly, Greathouse said, they would be able to "just hold their

Grant increased for GC library work

State Rep. Sam Wolf has been notified a federal grant is being increased.

Secretary of State Jim Edgar told Wolf, "I am pleased to tell you I have increased the amount of the federal construction grant I awarded to the Granite City Public Library."

"Since the intent of the use of the federal funds made available for this project was to put people to work, and since other projects previously funded had been delayed, I decided to use the additional monies to assist in the completion of the Granite City Public Library's construction project."

"The original grant award of $37,448 has been amended by another $17,920 to assist in the building project. I appreciate your interest in local library development and know that you appreciate, as I do, the importance of strong local libraries in Illinois," Edgar told Wolf.

Preparing for Pontoon cystic fibrosis campaign

Voice of the St. Louis Cardinals, Jack Buck, chairman of the Gateway Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, has named Richard Watson and the Pontoon Beach Church of Christ Youth Group to conduct a CF "road block" in Pontoon Beach.

Watson and the youth group will be conducting the road block this fall to raise funds for research and care of children affected by cystic fibrosis. The fatal lung and digestive disease affects one in every 1600 babies born in the U.S.

Both parents of a CF child carry the recessive CF gene. At present, one in 20 Americans is an unknown, symptom-free carrier of the CF gene. With continued research, a test may be discovered to determine who are carriers, Buck said. Due to research and improved therapy, today 50 percent of the CF patients are living to enjoy their 18th birthday and beyond.

Schuler to be MESD regional sewage treatment coordinator

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

There's a new face at the Metro East Sanitary District, but it's not exactly a new face in Granite City. Paul Schuler, mayor of Granite City for 12 years before being defeated by Von Dee Cruse in April, has been named the facility coordinator for regional sewage treatment in the sanitary district.

In making the announcement Wednesday, MESD Executive Director Shang Greathouse said Schuler can lend to many details the region would not have the time for.

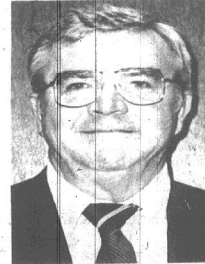

"I'm really happy to have Paul with us," Greathouse said. "He's been involved with us since 'day one' in this thing and he's really going to help us."

The regional program is scheduled to go into operation sometime in 1986, serving approximately 24,000 customers now being served by treatment plants in Lansdowne (East St. Louis), Granite City, Madison County and Glen Carbon. "The whole thing entails a tremendous amount of work with engineers, collecting drawings and specifications, things like that," Greathouse said. "And there is just no way I can do it. First of all, I'm not that smart. And since Paul has been involved with it all along, he certainly knows what he's doing."

Schuler and Greathouse co-signed the agreement in April 1984 providing for the formation of the regional plan "within two years," according to Greathouse.

"Whether or not we can start it at that time, I don't know, but I think we can get it going sometime in 1986," he said. "The main thing is this will get the levee district out of the sewer business."

Two bottle rocket devices and a burned cigarette were found on the car hood. Rubber seals around the doors and windows had been damaged on both sides of the car and heat apparently was applied to the tail. Paint and bumper guards causing them to melt.

Newspaper continues to serve

The rumor mill is hard at it.
After 83 years of superior community service, according to the mill, the Thursday Press-Record is going to shut down.

Wrong, wrong, wrong.
To repeat with emphatic rhetorical emphasis...

The Press-Record will not shut down. Strictly from a business standpoint, one does not close a profitable newspaper. The Press-Record is certainly successful and the communities that have supported it all these years are not going to see its tradition of community service end.

This area has proven it will support three papers each week, just as St. Charles, Mo., has supported three Journals each week for nine years. And don't let the size of this community give credence to the rumor — the nearby Alton Telegraph is a widely-respected daily newspaper in a community not much larger than Granite City.

The rumor mill works hard, fabricating stories based on speculation that is, in turn, based on nothing, nothing, nothing, ad nauseam.

Rumor is always interesting, but if you hear this latest one, ask your source if he's talked to us. Ask what the facts are.

Or just wait.

Watch this newspaper.

It will be here next year, and the next, and the next... ad infinitum.

Growth is likely at GC college

"Growth industries" are difficult to attract, but this community has one — the Granite City Center of Belleville Area College.

Growth for the already big educational complex at Maryville and Nantux roads seems a certainty. BAC, which is acquiring the GCC building (formerly Granite City High School North), has built the enrollment to 2,000 since establishing the two-year college here through a lease in 1983.

Now that it will be taking permanent title to the structure and a 38-acre campus — and spending more than $6.5 million to improve the facility — there is confidence the enrollment here could rise to 4,000 or 5,000 by the mid-1990s.

The Board of Education approved the sale June 18, two days before BAC's ratification of the plan. Thomas Alvey, BAC board attorney, commented after the trustees' June 18 meeting, "This solves a substantial need for BAC as far as our growth is concerned. It will quickly and dramatically expand our services in Granite City."

The acquisition leaves School District Nine with

$1 million to bolster its financial situation, half of it this summer and then $50,000 annually for the next decade.

In addition, the school system will have free use for five years of an automotive instructional shop to be created at the college center. And Granite City students' opportunities for higher education will be increased by college tuition waivers and scholarship of $15,000 a year over a 10-year span.

Of course, the college campus is not a growth "industry," although it will be involved in the production of associate-degree graduates and the manufacture of increased skills and knowledge. But it was interesting to note at the public hearing here June 10 that all local industrial spokesmen who participated stressed that continuation of the Granite City Center is vital to their future planning.

For a lot of reasons, the new college fits closely into the outlook for progress through the Quad-City area and southern Madison County. It will contribute to, and be enhanced by, other positive local occurrences.

Fight continuing against state pay board

To the Editor:

In the wake of the Illinois Supreme Court's decision upholding the $8 million in lame-duck political pay raises given to 1,400 public officials earlier this year by the Compensation Review Board, the Coalition for Political Honesty will continue to campaign for a referendum on the 1986 ballot to give voters an opportunity to abolish the board.

Although the Supreme Court rejected arguments in the Coalition's taxpayer suit that the law creating the board was constitutional, the court's decision puts perfume on a stunk.

Under the Compensation Review Act, the General Assembly appoints a 12-person board which has the exclusive power to set the salaries of every major public official in state government, including the governor, judges, legislators and cabinet officers.

The board's pay raise decisions automatically become law unless vetoed by both houses of the legislature.

No matter whether it's constitutional or not doesn't hide the fact that the Compensation Review Act is a shoddy law.

It establishes a permanent system that will produce automatic pay raises for politicians without any real accountability to the public. It's a politician's dream and a taxpayer's nightmare.

The best way for taxpayers to work for repeal of the law is to join the Coalition's petition drive for the Political Honesty Law.

The Political Honesty Law is a referendum which calls for a freeze on the salaries of all elected public officials until the General Assembly enacts a strict state ethics code, including abolition of the Compensation Review Board.

The people of Illinois are fed up with politicians who are more concerned about pay raises than adopting strong rules of ethical conduct.

Other provisions of the Coalition's ethics proposal are:

a) A ban on doubling-dipping, the practice of legislators being on more than one public payroll.

b) Stronger income disclosure statements for public officials and lobbyists.

c) Tougher controls on out-of-state junketing by legislators.

d) A strict limit on gifts to legislators from lobbyists.

e) A prohibition on secret absenteeism where legislators leave their colleagues' work their voting buttons when they're off the floor; and

f) A ban on conflict-of-interest voting.

Coalition volunteers will be circulating petitions to put the referendum on local ballots at the November 1986 general election when legislative candidates are up for election.

The Coalition led the successful petition campaign for the Cutback Amendment in 1980 which reduced the Illinois House by one-third after legislators voted themselves pay raises in the 1978 lame-duck session of the legislature.

In 1974, a Coalition petition drive resulted in a law prohibiting legislators from receiving their entire annual salary for their first day in office. That was the last time any ethics law was passed by the General Assembly.

Anyone interested in passing a Political Honesty Law petition can call (312) 524-1978 or write the Coalition at P.O. Box 708, Oak Park, Ill. 60303.

Need to implement the Monroe Doctrine

To the Editor:

We, as free Americans, need to do all we can to keep our freedom, under God, and help those whose freedom is threatened.

The Defense Watch publication has called for use of the Monroe Doctrine to protect America from Soviet aggression:

"The idea of Russian bases in the Western Hemisphere to attack the U.S. is not just a product of the 20th Century."

"It is, in fact, a strategy that was recognized by President Monroe in the 1820s after czarist expansion into North America."

"To protect America from that threat, Pres. Monroe announced the Monroe Doctrine that declared North and South America off-limits to foreign enemies."

"The Russian government has changed, but the threat remains. Congress must openly declare that no foreign power will be allowed to use foreign or proxy troops to threaten America's underbelly."

"Until Congress moves to uphold the Monroe Doctrine, all Americans will live under the threat of Communist expansion up to the Rio Grande, followed by tens of millions of refugees pouring into America, along with economic stragulation and even military defeat."

Readers, let's do what we can with prayer to help us and our neighbors in the world to keep freedom from foreign aggression.

One way is to write to our representatives in Washington, D.C., urging them to support President Reagan's programs and work with him in these matters.

Senators Alan Dixon and Paul Simon can be addressed at the Senate Office Building, Washington 20510 and Congressman Melvin Price can be addressed at the House Office Building, Washington 20515. Let's all be involved for our common good.

American hostages

Press-Record readers were asked Tuesday what, if anything, they think the United States should do about the hostage situation in Beirut. Their reactions follow:

Leo Swift, Brighton

"I think we should give the terrorists a certain amount of time to reply and if they don't, we go into their area. We've got to stop these hostage situations somewhere along the line. We've already lost one person — how many people does the United States have to lose before we stop bowing down to these terrorists?"

The Rev. Don F. Pierson, Granite City

"With 64 political parties and 17 private armies, Lebanon is a land of minorities. The Shites have been a persecuted minority. We can begin by understanding the frustration that would lead to their violent taking of the hostages."

Susan Seago, Granite City

"I think we should take some action now. From past experiences, they (terrorists) believe they can get away with this type of thing — they believe we're weak. If we don't do something, this type of situation will probably happen again."

Dalton Godair, Granite City

"I think we should take the hostages. And if we don't do that, I hope we don't do the same thing (Pres.) Carter did with the hostage situation in Iran — nothing. There must be a reason why the United States hasn't acted on this yet, but I don't think we should let them (terrorists) push us around."

Tax cap passage by Illinois House urged

To the Editor:

Bi-partisan tax reform is a top priority on the national agenda. On June 5, Illinois House members, in that same spirit, voted out of committee the Tax Cap Amendment, H.R. CA 12.

Government spending — state, federal, and local — totaled 45.2 percent of personal income in 1983, according to the U.S. Department of Commerce. Since passage of the income tax in 1969, state spending from the general revenue fund has jumped from $3,000,000,000 to nearly $9,600,000,000, a 220 percent increase.

From 1960 to 1983, spending in Illinois went up 721 percent, while personal income rose only 452 percent.

With the 1983 financial crisis behind us, ambitious new programs are being proposed. The pressure for more spending and taxes is tremendous.

Nobel Laureate Milton Friedman says this is caused by a fundamental defect in our political and constitutional structure which prevents the public from ever getting to vote on the total budget of the government.

The Tax Cap Amendment remedies this flaw by allowing Illinois citizens to decide what they are willing to pay to state government.

In 1978, they overwhelmingly passed an advisory referendum calling for constitutional limits on government spending. It is time we honored their wishes.

The key to the Tax Cap Amendment is tying spending to the current percentage of average personal income in Illinois, 6.5 percent, for the three most recent years for which figures are available.

The amendment includes an escape mechanism allowing a one-time increase in the 6.5 percent spending limit in an approved (2/3 vote) emergency and creates an emergency fund.

When this fund reaches its limit, excess revenues would be applied toward pension obligations, bonded indebtedness, or refunds to the taxpayer.

Representatives Harry Woodyard and Sam Vinson, Republicans, and Richard Maulino, Ralph Caparelli and Robert Terzich, Democrats, along with 49 others so far, co-sponsored the Tax Cap Amendment.

Urging your state representative to support its passage now, before end-of-session logjams, so Illinois citizens can decide how much government they are willing to pay for.

Defends interchange of ideas, information

To the Editor:

I write to alert you to two developments in Congress that will affect newspapers. Both could diminish the interchange of ideas and information.

The administration budget brought to the Senate contained provisions which eliminated the federal support that makes possible reduced rate postage for in-county newspaper mailings, libraries, nonprofit groups and mail services for the blind.

The Senate restored some monies for these "revenue foregone" programs, but at less than one-eighth the current levels.

I voted for an amendment which would have frozen the "revenue foregone" program at the present funding level until July 1986, but that amendment did not pass.

Under the terms of the original White House budget request, postal costs for charitable groups such as the United Way, the American Lung Association, the Salvation Army, the Red Cross and the National Wildlife Federation would have risen as much as 276 percent in mailing costs.

Such dramatic increases will have a negative impact on newspaper balance sheets and will diminish the reach of these important community resources.

The House of Representatives also voted to restore a small level of funding for "revenue foregone" and a conference committee is currently attempting to resolve the differences in the budget bills passed by the two bodies. Once a final decision has been reached, I will write again to inform you of it.

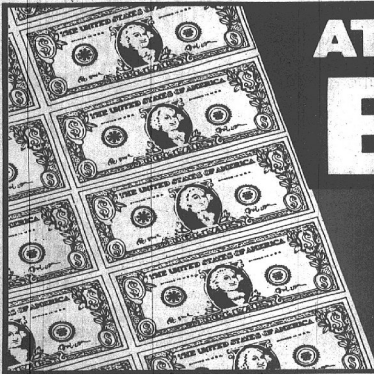

The second development involves the comprehensive rewriting of the Freedom of Information Act which will soon come to the Senate Judiciary Committee for a vote. The present version is not balanced, as it favors the convenience of the government over the needs of people seeking and submitting information.

It passed the subcommittee 4-1, mine being the lone vote against it. But the subcommittee has agreed to my request for hearings, and I will continue to press for improvements that would balance the bill. I will also write again to report developments regarding the Freedom of Information act.

As a former newspaperman, I have strong feelings concerning the value of free speech. Increased postage costs and a weakened Freedom of Information Act undermine this valuable freedom and are not in the national interest.

Fountain, museum urged opposite Gateway Arch

At their annual meeting June 17, trustees of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial (JNEM) elected officers, appointed new trustees and discussed plans for the Gateway Arch area.

Malcolm Martin, vice president of the JNEM Association, presented his plan to develop the east bank of the Mississippi River opposite the 630-foot Arch. He said this would complete Arch designer Eero Saarinen's original plan for a two-story park divided by and united by the river.

Plans for the new park call for construction of a geysier jet fountain which would shoot a column of water 600 feet high, making it the highest fountain in the world.

Also proposed are an American ethnic heritage museum and an amphitheater for concerts and other events.

Access to the site would be enhanced by extension of Illinois Route 3. Other access possibilities include the proposed light rail transit system across Dads Bridge, a ferry service, and an elevated tramway at the southern edge of the park.

Also discussed at the annual meeting was a plan submitted by Fred Kummer, JNEM trustee and president of HBE Corp.

Kummer's plan calls for building a block-wide pedestrian bridge over Interstate 70 and Memorial Drive from the Old Courthouse to the Arch grounds, plus a 520-car underground garage.

These proposals would complete the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, which was started in 1935.

The current park, which includes the Arch, the Visitors Center, the Old Courthouse and Luther Ely Smith Park, is one of the largest tourist attractions in the nation. This year, two million people, in addition to the 3.5 million who attend the July 4th VP fair, will visit the Arch.

It is estimated that the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial has been the catalyst for $300 million in downtown St. Louis development.

Redevelopment of Laclede's Landing, construction of the Cervantes Convention Center, Busch Memorial Stadium and the Civic Center Redevelopment, and many office, hotel and retail buildings have been spurred by construction of the Gateway Arch.

Officials tour state, call for new school laws

In a whirlwind tour of the state Monday, leaders urged citizens to ask for enactment of new school laws this month.

Gov. James R. Thompson and more than a dozen persons in the fields of education, government, business and labor joined in calling for the Illinois General Assembly to approve major educational changes and the funding to go with them.

The governor noted at news conferences in six cities, including Cahokia, that adjournment is set for June 30.

"While the legislature, members of the educational community and I have agreed on the major points of educational reform, lawmakers have yet to address the vital question of funding for the reforms," he said.

"It is essential we have a long-term, stable source of funds. We believe that if the people know and understand the reforms, they will be willing to pay for them. These reforms are not optional."

"I have appointed 130 members to an Alliance for Better Schools in Illinois, to take the message to the people that this is the year for education reform."

Those joining the governor on the six stops included: Mary Ellen Barry, president, League of Women Voters of Illinois; Joan Levy, president, Illinois Association of School Boards; Ted Sanders, state superintendent of education; and Richard Wagner, executive director, Illinois Board of Higher Education.

Also, Reg Weaver, president, Illinois Education Association; Harold Baum, president, Illinois Association of School Administrators; Robert Healey, president, Illinois Federation of Teachers; and Arlene Zielke, president, Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Under reform proposals, teachers would have to pass an examination for accreditation; teachers would be evaluated and supervised, with the tenured teacher dismissal process streamlined; school districts would begin pilot programs to recognize outstanding teachers through performance pay programs; and regional education services would be expanded to include education for gifted students, alcohol and substance abuse programs, computer education programs and continuing education for teachers.

Reforms would place greater emphasis on reading, math and science and provide equipment to new mathematics academy would be planned for gifted students and vocational education would be updated to meet Illinois' changing economy.

The state would intensify efforts to prevent students from dropping out. State-supported summer schools would be required for students in need of remedial help, and all schools would offer alternative school programs.

Because children who enter school at an early age do better throughout school and are less likely to get into trouble later in life, the state would expand early childhood education by encouraging full-day kindergarten programs. Services to handicapped children up to 3 years of age also would be expanded.

New school discipline policies would be set by local teacher-parent committees. Funds would be provided for alternative schools and dropout prevention programs and a statewide alcohol and drug abuse project would be initiated.

Incentives would be provided for school consolidation.

Education would be made more accountable to the public through issuance of report cards for districts comparing school performance to state and national norms. And the state would test students for academic proficiency, with results of the tests being made available to policy makers.

Rep. Wolf's advocacy council doing research and cutting costs

By REP. SAM WOLF
Cost-efficiency legislation pending in the General Assembly directs either the administration or state agencies to take steps toward cost saving, more efficient government.

I believe these proposals are important. Elected officials and citizens alike have called for more efficiency in government. For too long, however, the only approach was to "cut state spending" without a concrete proposal on how to do so.

FINALLY, WE ARE successfully pursuing some innovative solutions aimed at "cutting the fat" out of government.

First we must look to last year's action by the General Assembly to all but eliminate commissions. In order to insure continuing advocacy services for the state, the General Assembly created four overall advocacy councils while saving nearly $5 million.

1. along with Senator Shaffer, chair one of these councils — the Legislative Research Council.

UNDER THE NEW system, research and development on legislative matters is conducted by the Council in both a relevant and timely manner.

Rather than receiving a multitude of requests — many duplicative — the Council's work has more order and purpose.

The initial saving of eliminating the 40 or so commissions was only the first step in consolidating the auxiliary functions of the General Assembly.

THIS SESSION, four bills will have an impact on government efficiency:

1. Legislation to establish an overall travel policy for state employees with centralized oversight.

2. Creation of the Employee-Suggestion Award program, which grants a monetary reward to an agency employee who suggests changes in his or her department resulting in cost savings or greater efficiency.

3. Centralized review of advertising by state agencies. The House State Government Review and Regulation Committee discovered widespread duplication in advertising and program information among state agencies.

4. A monitoring program for public building projects, specifically highway construction and maintenance, which allows contractors to suggest cost-saving alternatives to the state's building specifications.

WHILE ON THE TOPIC of state spending, I'd like to make a brief comment on the status of the 1992 Chicago World's Fair.

I have always had strong reservations about the World's Fair concept. The last few world's fairs have been failures in the financial sense.

The public-funded world's fairs have been competing with private-sector successes like Disney World which offer similar experiences for tourists.

Additionally, I have been hard put to see how the Chicago World's Fair would benefit all regions of Illinois.

THESE CONCERNS have been rather heightened by recent newspaper reports that cast even more doubt about Fair funding and debt, and the impact this will have on Downstate communities.

Last year, the General Assembly appropriated $8.8 million for the World's Fair Authority. To date, the comptroller reports that four payments have been made to the Authority totaling $8.8 million, but no documentation exists on how that money was spent.

We must see how the initial appropriation was spent or misspent before we invest additional dollars toward the Fair.

THE WORLD'S FAIR is in deep trouble with the Illinois General Assembly.

I agree with those who call for a complete accounting of expenditures to date; a list of committed financial backers; and a consensus direction for the Fair.

Chairman Kramer would better spend his time selling the fair to the city it supposedly benefits rather than seeking support from Downstate Illinois.

Build Illinois, school reforms need funding

By GOVERNOR JAMES R. THOMPSON

With the scheduled conclusion of the spring legislative session at the end of this month, the Illinois General Assembly appears to be in an enviable position. Legislation dealing with the major issues of economic development and education reform have moved through both houses of the General Assembly rapidly, gathering momentum and support each step of the way.

BUILD ILLINOIS and the Illinois Better Schools Program, twin gates to economic development in the coming years, have captured the imagination of the State and the programs have received the bipartisan support essential to passage.

It is clear that the great changes and reforms needed to move Illinois forward are taking shape.

But hidden in all the good news is the danger that the progress made in these two areas during this session could end in failure and disappointment before the legislature adjourns, for neither program can move forward if not properly funded by the General Assembly.

LEGISLATORS HAVE embraced Build Illinois with such enthusiasm that the projects added to the program would nearly double its price tag if implemented. Yet they have rejected the method proposed to finance it and have failed to come up with another plan for financing the program.

At the same time, the legislature is meeting the challenge of meeting education reform but, like Build Illinois, it so far has rejected the only funding proposal put forward.

Lawmakers are to be commended for their efforts to reach agreement among the variety of key groups like teacher unions and school administrators on major education issues.

The legislature has agreed to five areas of reform.

UNDER REFORM proposals, teachers will have to pass an examination for accreditation. Teachers will be evaluated and supervised, with the teacher dismissal process streamlined. Under a proposal submitted by this Administration and agreed to by education groups, school districts will reward outstanding teachers through performance pay programs.

Regional education services will be expanded to strengthen education for gifted students, alcohol and substance abuse programs, computer education programs and continuing education for teachers.

Reforms will place greater emphasis on reading, math and science and provide the equipment needed to accomplish this goal.

A NEW MATH-SCIENCE academy will be planned for gifted students, and vocational education will be updated to meet Illinois' changing economy.

The state will intensify efforts to prevent students from dropping out. State-supported summer programs will be required for students in need of remedial help, and all schools will offer alternative school programs.

We know that children who enter school at an early age do better throughout school and are less likely to get in trouble later in life. Education reforms will expand early childhood education by encouraging full-day kindergarten programs. Services to handicapped children up to 3 years of age also will be expanded.

NEW SCHOOL DISCIPLINE policies will be set by local teacher-parent committees. Funds will be provided for alternative schools and dropout prevention programs and a statewide alcohol and drug abuse project will be initiated.

The reforms also encourage, through incentives, school consolidation to provide funding equity among our schools and increase efficiency in the way schools are run.

Education will be more accountable to the public through issuance of "report cards" for the school districts, comparing school performance to state and national norms.

THE STATE WILL TEST students for academic proficiency, with the results of the tests being made available to policy-makers.

But how has the legislature addressed the question of funding these essential reforms? So far, it has not. In recent weeks, lawmakers have looked to the state's expected year-end balance as a means of escaping the need for even the smallest new tax to ensure long-term funding for the reform of our educational institutions. New revenues are not needed, some have said, because Illinois has enough money in the bank to finance reforms.

BUT NO STATE can fund reforms of the major proportions proposed without figuring out how to pay for them — not just for one year, but over many years. Short-term funding is simply short-sighted.

Furthermore, the year-end balance "escape route" ignores basic facts. Illinois has nearly $600 million in the bank today. But during June the state will make double school aid payments — more than $240 million for these two payments alone and approximately $380 million to pay all education bills due this month.

A more realistic forecast of the year-end balance is about $400 million.

EVEN IF ALL the education reforms for 1985-86 could be paid from the year-end balance, the cost of continuing the reforms in 1986-87 will increase as pilot programs are fully implemented throughout the state.

Educational reform is an issue of importance to all of our people — not just those with children, but those without children who must one day turn over leadership of our state to the youngsters now learning in school.

Our people must make their voices heard in the final 10 days and they must make them heard in Springfield.

Prospects for Illinois' future have never been brighter, but will remain so only if we are willing to meet our obligations head on. People can make the difference, but only if they participate in the process and tell their lawmakers that they want better schools and are willing to pay for them.

Reading projects backed by Friends of Library

Friends of the Library held their annual meeting in the Jaycee Building, President Ann Scott conducted the meeting, with reports given on projects completed by the group. A book sale was held.

A sign on the parking lot at the main library was purchased and installed with funds from the Friends. Collection boxes have been set up at both the main and branch libraries for paperback books to be collected and used in the book service for adult patients in St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Election of officers was conducted for 1985-86: president Ann Scott, 1st vice president John McGee, 2nd vice president Kathy Schilling, secretary Coneth Roberts and treasurer Carol Franklin.

The next general meeting is being scheduled for October at the branch library. Librarian Bob Stack reported construction at the main library is not yet on schedule.

Coneth McGee won a book of her choice and chose a children's book to be donated to the branch library. Howard Bolten's "Alley Cats" trio provided entertainment.

Refreshments were home-made cookies, punch and coffee.

A three-day annual book sale in June at the Wilson Park Ice rink was held as planned, proving successful.

Help was provided by the Park District, Capt. Jerry Wallace and the crew from Fire Station 3.

The June board meeting was held, with a guest presenting a proposed national program, "Front Porch Read Out."

Jim Heaton presented the proposal to the local American Association of Retired Persons earlier this year.

He asked seniors to read to youngsters, not only to help children learn the joys of reading but to help bridge the generation gap. The Friends group agreed to support Heaton in any way it could.

"With the program conducted on the front porch, the parents are aware of where their children are. No readings are to be done inside unless the parents are aware of this. If the reading-aloud program spreads nationwide, it should help literacy and speech," Heaton has commented.

In planning is a leaflet for new parents which would have information on child care and a list of helpful library books available.

A potluck meal in Wilson Park for members is being planned for September.

Membership is open to anyone who wants to belong, active or inactive. The dues are $3 a year and applications are at the library.

Organizational and lifetime membership are available as well as individual memberships, Pres. Scott said.

12 CAR TIRES PUNCTURED
Six cars owned by workers at the National Food Store, Madison Avenue and Namekoi Road, had two tires each punctured on June 18.

Owners reporting damage included Richard Adler of Alton, Neil Shapp of St. Peters, Mo., John Blitch of Fifth St., Madison, Samuel Works of St. Louis, Randolph Ingram of St. Louis and Lynn Polczynski of Belleville.

The resolution approved by the board said $301,248 has been paid to the deputies as part of the county's contract agreement with Operating Engineers Local 520-C.

AN ADDITIONAL $63,610 will be taken from the County Revenue/Personnel Department to complete the total payout.

According to the contract agreement, the deputies are to receive sick-leave back pay bonuses accumulated prior to 1978, when a cap on sick-leave bonuses was established.

All back bonuses were to be paid from the sheriff's department's federal revenue sharing funds, but a surplus in the personnel budget due to an overestimation of health insurance premiums for county employees allowed the back pay to be taken from personnel funds, it was related.

IN OTHER ACTION Wednesday, the county board waived its right to receive a grant for services to delinquents through counseling and professional foster care. Instead, the board endorsed a grant proposal by Central Baptist Family Services, the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services/Illinois Juvenile Justice Commission is considering giving the grant to Central Baptist Family Services, which provides counseling services in Madison County.

The board ratified the appointment of Richard Mueller, 308 Warsaw Lane, Mitchell, to the Mitchell Water District Board. Mitchell replaces the late Darrell Harrell and will serve until May 4, 1987.

Mr. and Mrs. Brett Champion, 4101 Oak Creek Drive, Indianapolis, Ind., formerly of Granite City, became the parents of their first child, a son, June 14 at the Humana Women's Hospital in Indianapolis.

Taylor Brooks is the name selected for the new arrival. He weighed 9 pounds, 2 ounces. The mother is the former Miss Diane Tracy.

The infant is the first grandchild for the paternal grandfather, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad "Babe" (Sue) Champion of Granite City.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Tracy of Glenview, Ill., are the maternal grandparents and the baby is also their first grandchild.

DRIVER, PASSENGER HURT
Cecil C. Garrison, 58, of 2844 Forest Ave. and a passenger, Margaret Garrison, 57, of 2844 Forest Ave. were injured June 6 when their car was involved in an accident with a hit-and-run driver. Garrison said she was driving south on Madison Avenue when a vehicle disobeyed a stop sign on 24th Street and collided with her car. The other auto then left the scene.

Sheriff's deputies to receive sick-leave back pay bonuses

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

All 69 Madison County sheriff's deputies entitled to sick-leave back pay will receive it this year, following action Wednesday by the Madison County Board.

Tax vote comparison

Mayor Von Dee Cruse voted to rescind the tax.

An irony of the tie vote was Cruse implied he would not give an opinion on the telephone tax question unless there was a tie. "When the vote is 7 to 7, you'll know my feelings," he replied.

BUT CRUSE had to respond sooner than he apparently anticipated.

Still another coincidence was the mayors in each instance led the council action.

In 1981, the 5 percent telephone tax was the second part of Schuler's three-part plan to improve the city's financial picture. The first part involved a 3 percent sales tax. The third part involved a 1 percent sales tax on liquor and food sales in restaurants and bars.

IN 1985, the telephone tax was made an issue by Cruse, who led a petition drive to have the issue brought to a city-wide vote and subsequently the question was placed on the April ballot.

Perhaps the greatest contradiction was that this time taxpayers had a say on the tax.

Fourth of July tourney signup

The Granite City Park District is currently signing men's and women's teams wishing to play in its annual Fourth of July softball Tournament.

According to John Lakin, recreation supervisor with the district, teams will play at each Wilson, Worthen and West Granite Parks. Championship rounds, however, will be played at Wilson and Worthen

Parks.

Registration is $50 per team in the double-elimination affair which is tentatively scheduled to begin Saturday, June 29. Sixteen team brackets are currently being arranged for both tournaments. Persons wishing further information or to register should call the Wilson Park Office at 877-3059 during business hours.

New vocational exploration program at Madison center

By DONNA KIMBERO
Staff writer

Madison aldermen granted permission Tuesday night to the Madison County Employment and Training Department's Granite City office to use the Madison Memorial Recreation Center for a vocational exploration program.

The program is structured to introduce disadvantaged youths to career education, character building and life preparation skills, officials said.

It began Monday at the city recreation center, Seventh Street and Lee Avenue.

JOHN DUTKO, city building inspector, reported 16 permits were issued in a two-week period for a variety of construction projects. He added he has not yet received the necessary legal papers for demolition of the Greenhall building.

Aldermen Charles Rockett questioned Dutko on a house in the 800 block of W. Madison Street that did not pass inspection for occupancy.

Dutko replied he told the people living in the dwelling that it failed the inspection and was creating a health hazard. There is no electric-ty connected to the home at present because wiring is exposed on the walls, he said. He added he has talked with the owner and explained the items that did not pass inspection.

OFFICIAL PAPERS related to a lawsuit filed by Gary Novich of Granite City against Thomas Volski, a Madison police officer, and the City of Madison were served on Mayor John Belloff June 15.

During Tuesday's City Council meeting, Belloff prepared the aldermen the nine-count lawsuit seeks in excess of $15,000 in actual damages and in excess of $15,000 in punitive damages.

Novich disagreed with procedures followed when he was arrested by the Madison department; it was related.

AMONG THE COUNTS alleged in the suit by Novich are trespassing, illegal police power, city negligence, violation of civil rights, and city eavesdropping. The suit was referred to Larry Hartman, city attorney, for study and defense preparations. In other business, the aldermen approved paying bills in the amount of $27,138 for June 5 through June 18.

Fine-free week for overdue books

The Granite City Public Library will have a fine-free week for overdue books and other materials July 1-6.

During that week, no fines will be charged on any overdue materials at either the main library or the branch library.

"This is a good chance for people to bring back library books that have been lying around the house for months or years," a library spokeswoman said.

"Every year, many books are checked out and never returned. This is a loss of taxpayers' money and an inconvenience to other library users who need those materials."

"We hope a great many people will take advantage of the fine-free week. No questions will be asked; the library would just like to get its books back."

Drive-up book return boxes are located in front of both the main and branch libraries.

The main library, 2001 Delmar Ave., is open each Monday and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and each Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The branch library, 2020 Johnson Road (rear of Central Christian Church), is open from 12:30 to 9 p.m. on Tuesdays and from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Wednesdays through Saturdays.

Both libraries will be closed on Thursday, July 4.

own for around a year at a terrible cost to us."

Greathouse said some sort of cooperative venture might need to be worked out.

"You know Nameoki Township doesn't have the money to do it, the city of Granite City doesn't have the money to do it, and we sure don't," he said. "I don't want to duck the problem and I won't. But we have to look at it realistically from a financial point of view."

THE WELL HAS BEEN used to pull water into Doherty Slough and channel it to a pump station located at the end of the slough near Pontoon Road. The pump station draws water into lines leading to the Nameoki Ditch and the water ends up in Horseshoe Lake, from where some is drained into the Mississippi River.

3 BICYCLES ARE TAKEN

Linda Shaver, 1316 Meridian Ave., reported June 16 three bicycles were stolen from her backyard. All of the bikes were 20-inch; two were girl's bikes and the third was a boy's bike.

WINS TRIP FOR FAMILY. Jim Hart, former Big Red quarterback and honorary chairman of this year's multiple sclerosis drive read-a-thon, presents Dixie Lynn Price, 11, with a three-time winner award and tells the Parkview School pupil she has won a trip to Disney World for herself and her family. Along with her schooling and such hobbies as basketball and playing the piano, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Price, 2319 Zippel Ave., placed first in a 98-county area by reading more than 100 books. Individuals pledged contributions for each book read; she has raised more than $3,000 for MS research, taking top honors for three consecutive years. Her mother, Mrs. Donna Price, is a victim of multiple sclerosis.

Citizens to honor Walker

He earlier was honored for his achievements by the Concerned Citizens of Alton-Godfrey at a gathering at the Holiday Inn in Alton.

WHILE IN the Madison County post, Walker was responsible for overall administration and day-to-day operation of the county agency, the 109th affiliate in the Urban League's national movement.

The honoree was a resident of Madison County for 40 years and graduated in 1960 from Madison High School.

He received a bachelor degree from Southern Illinois University in 1965 and earned a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1971.

WALKER WAS EMPLOYED earlier in his career as regional coordinator for the National Urban League at the Central Regional Office in Chicago, where he provided technical assistance to 41 Urban League affiliates located in nine states. He also was project director of the former Madison-St. Clair Urban League, which now is operated as separate entities in the two counties.

Walker was elected to the Madison School Board in April 1972 and was re-elected to a second three-year board term in April 1975. He later resigned in order to accept the regional post in Chicago.

ACTIVE IN MANY community and service organizations, he served for three years on the Tri-City Area YMCA board and for seven years on the Venice-Madison Fine Arts Committee, including a term as president.

Walker said Dayton is an industrial city of 200,000 in a metropolitan area of more than one million people.

It shares the unemployment problems most midwestern and northeastern industrial cities have experienced, particularly in the inner city areas, he said.

Teamwork to improve hospitals emphasized

Region 4 members of the Illinois Hospital Association (IHA) played host to 220 hospital administrators, physicians and trustees at the region's eighth annual chief executive medical staff and trustee conference, held at the Missouri Athletic Club in St. Louis.

Spence Meighan, M.D., Portland, Ore., presented "Heavenly Days," a health care slide and sound show describing the need for hospital administrators, trustees and medical staff members to collaborate in their efforts to contain costs, improve hospital management, and generate the proper environment for future needs and changes.

Also during the conference, IHA member hospitals presented area state senators with plaques in appreciation of their effort and support on behalf of hospitals and the communities they serve. Receiving plaques were Sens. Ralph A. Dunn (R-DuQuoin), Kenneth Hall (D-East St.

Louis), Sam M. Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) and Frank C. Watson (R-Carlyle).

Paul Raczekiewicz, chairman of the conference planning committee and executive vice president of St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City, said Dr. Meighan had reinforced the "extreme importance of cooperative efforts among hospital administrators, trustees and medical staff members."

IHA is the state professional association that represents more than 240 community hospitals in Illinois. IHA Region 4, which encompasses Madison, St. Clair, Clinton, Monroe and Randolph counties, is one of nine IHA regions.

Venice reading teacher praised

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

Special praise for superior performance has been accorded Mrs. Grattana Ponce, a Venice teacher, by Dr. Nancy Venegoni, president of the Illinois Reading Council.

Dr. Venegoni's remarks, focusing on Mrs. Ponce's efforts as president of the Lewis and Clark Reading Council, were relayed by Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers to the Venice Board of Education at its meeting last week.

A veteran educator, Mrs. Ponce currently is the Chapter I remedial reading teacher at the Venice public schools. She joined the Venice School District faculty July 24, 1956.

"Participation in a professional organization has long been recognized as a means by which an individual may give of himself. Many take part, but few are selected by their colleagues for a major leadership role," Dr. Venegoni said.

"In this position, Mrs. Ponce is performing at a superior level and has gained the respect and admiration of co-workers with which an individual may give of himself," the state council president said.

Dr. Venegoni added in her letter to Vickers, "To have an individual on your staff of the caliber of Mrs. Ponce speaks highly of your school system."

The Lewis and Clark Reading Council, headed by Mrs. Ponce, is part of the Illinois Reading Council, an affiliate of the International Reading Association.

The statewide council consists of numerous local councils throughout Illinois and, like its international counterpart, is dedicated to improving the quality of reading instruction.

Its objectives also are to enhance awareness of the impact of reading among all people and promote development of the reading profession and its constituents.

In other business, the school board authorized Vickers to prepare the Venice district's 1985-86 budget for presentation at the July 25 meeting.

The budget has to be adopted in its tentative form and put on display for 30 days prior to a public hearing," the administrator explained.

The timetable is followed as outlined, the final budget could be adopted on Sept. 12, Vickers said.

Board members also agreed to join with Venice city officials in a project to replace the 1975 Class A state basketball championship metal signs, situated at entranceways to the community.

The signs were erected when the Venice Red Devils won the state championship and have since deteriorated or have been defaced, Vickers noted.

Madison city jail improvements begin

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

The "deplorable condition" of the Madison city jail is "a shame on city officials and a shame on the city," Mayor John Bellico said Tuesday night in announcing that improvements have been started.

"Within the next week you will see a great difference," the mayor told the City Council.

"I KNOW a letter regarding this condition from the State Department of Corrections goes back five or six years, notifying the city the jail must be upgraded to satisfy the department's guidelines," he added.

Volunteer men and women are working now on repairing plaster cracks and windows, painting the cell walls, and installing smoke detectors, the mayor informed the council members.

"I assure you, if it can be avoided, this won't happen again," Bellico pledged.

HE SAID MAJOR changes will be made in the Madison jail but stopped short of predicting that the improvements would satisfy all state standards.

The municipal jail has been taken out of service, under state pressure, due to potential health and safety hazards. Prisoners currently are being housed elsewhere.

A Zoning Board of Appeals report Tuesday night included denial of a petition for a special use permit. The permit was sought by Gerald Moss, Nora Moss and Illinois-Pacific Coast Transportation Co. Inc.

The permit request involved property at 1601 Market St. Officials said there is a difference of opinion over methods of moving materials.

ALSO DENIED was a request by Carl Clark for a special use permit. Clark wanted to operate a beauty shop at 912 State St.

Approval was granted by the Zoning Board to Harold Getz for a variance permit to operate a craft shop at 1065 Washington Ave.; and to Delbert and Rosie Griffiths for a special use permit to operate a beauty shop in the basement at 1841 Fourth St.

Also receiving approval were Joseph Smith, 1314 Iowa St., for a variance to build a garage, and C.T. York, Dave Schermer and the Voloski family to erect a sign at the Voloski Family Restaurant, 1300 Madison Ave.

NEW SPEED LIMIT and no-parking street signs will be erected where the existing ones are rusted and are not readable, the mayor told Aldermen Robert Greive and Paul Ashford after they reported some people cannot read the present signs.

A request from Illinois Bell Co. for an easement in the Stephen Maeras Industrial Park to install a cross connection telephone terminal was approved by the council.

The terminal will allow additional phone facilities for business places located there.

Scholarship program Sunday at New Salem

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

"Excellence Through Education" is the theme of the 1985 scholarship program scheduled at 4 p.m. Sunday, June 23, at New Salem Missionary Baptist Church, 1349 Klein St., Venice.

Associate Judge Melvin Wharton of the St. Clair County Circuit Court will be the principal speaker. Remarks by church, school and civic officials also will be heard.

"Area graduates who are members of New Salem Baptist Church will be honored on this special day," Thelma Thompson, program chairman, said. She also serves as the William H. Payne Memorial Scholarship Committee chairman.

Graduates from both Madison and Venice high schools and the two school districts' eighth grade classes will be among the honorees, she added.

Special recognition will be accorded those young people who are on their schools' honor rolls and have achieved other scholastic honors.

The program will focus on accomplishments of graduates intending to pursue their education at the university and college level, the chairman reported.

The William H. Payne Memorial Scholarship Committee of New Salem Baptist Church has awarded six financial aid scholarships during the 1984-85 school year, it was announced.

It is hoped to make a similar number of grants available to local graduates in 1985-86.

Plans approved for pool at SIUE

Plans and specifications for construction of an outdoor swimming pool at the Tipton Lake Recreation Peninsula on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were approved last week by the SIUE Board of Trustees, and university officers were authorized to proceed with bidding the project.

The trustees also authorized the Executive Committee of the Board to award contracts in connection with the project. Funding for the complex, totaling $425,000, will be from the SIUE Students Welfare and Recreation Facility Trust Fund.

It is hoped that construction can be started as soon as possible to take advantage of late summer and fall weather conditions.

The project will replace the present lake facilities for swimming. It will be located adjacent to the existing bathhouse and consist of a main pool, an attached diving pool, and a separated wading pool. A concrete apron will surround the complex, and a cyclone fence will enclose the entire area.

The project also includes renovation of the existing bathhouse, construction of a new office and concessions facility, and necessary site improvements.

GRANITE CITY — When Fred Becker raced home with the winning run in the last of the seventh inning Tuesday night, forgive him if he stamped his foot on home plate extra hard.

He wasn't alone. There was his American Legion District 22 Tri-City Post 113 teammates, about two dozen vocal fans who stuck it out through the lean times, and substitute manager-assistant coach Rodger Coakley all pressing hard right along with him.

The run that gave Tri-City its second run of the inning and an 8-7 victory over Bethalto seemed as elusive as last-thief specialist Becker getting caught trying to steal (he was 2-for-2 in the department). For that matter, the run that tied the game before Becker's score was nowhere to be found.

THAILING 7-6 going into the inning, Tri-City reached for victory on pinch-batter Bill Moore's lead-off single. Becker followed with an intended sacrifice bunt, but avoided the tag to reach base safely. Sam Tate singled to right to score Moore with the tying run. After Derek Merz walked, Gerald Booker grounded to shortstop Phil Little, who slipped on the ground throwing the ball to home plate. Becker avoided Bethalto catcher Mike Walker to streak across the plate. The ball, in turn, plunked Walker on the nose.

It was a quick ending to a bizarre comeback.

TRI-CITY appeared as if it would die on the vine, when bad judgment and pure bad luck on the bases not only wiped them out of rallies in the fourth and sixth innings but took away a run that had touched all four bases — including home.

Wait until Coakley tells his brother David, who normally manages the team but was still vacationing Tuesday, about the one that almost got away. The victory evened Tri-City's state at 3-3. Bethalto dropped to 2-3.

Let's take you to the fourth inning, where Tri-City was trailing 6-2. Bethalto erupted for six runs in the first two innings, but was now on the defensive as Tri-City behind "settled down" starting hurler Mark Bowen whittled the lead down.

TRI-CITY had scored two runs on an RBI single by catcher Merz in the third. Merz hit scored Becker, who had singled and stole second and third. A balk in the second inning by the first of four Bethalto pitchers, Allen Crump, scored Booker from third base, accounting for Tri-City's first run.

In the promising fourth, Tri-City put together four straight hits with no outs to score one run, closing the gap to 6-3, and threatened to score when the fourth hit loaded the bases.

Steve Davis and Ernie Gray singled to start the inning. Bowen followed with a single to score Davis. Becker's single filled the bases.

But Bowen was picked off second base on a throw from catcher Walker, and on the next pitch, Gray was tagged out at home plate trying to score from third after a wild pitch. Just like that, Tri-City was machine-gunned out of two runs and a big inning.

TRI-CITY did manage to salvage one more run in the inning, when third baseman Dean Kasting was unable to come up cleanly with a savagely hit ball by Booker.

Tri-City's surging players trailed 7-6 in the sixth inning. Again they loaded the bases, and again they came way empty.

But the fifth inning was good to them. Bethalto plated its seventh run in the top of the fifth inning on a single by Dale Gray, scoring Dave Hacke who had doubled. Tri-City avoided further trouble when Merz alertly picked off a Bethalto runner at first, and shortstop Tate dazzlingly scooped up a ground ball headed for the outfield to turn an unassisted double play.

THAILING 7-4 in the last of the inning, Tri-City rallied for two runs. Shane Cole walked to lead off the frame. He was sacrificed to second by Davis. Gray followed with a walk.

With Becker at the plate and two outs, Cole and Gray advanced to third and second respectively on a wild pitch. Bethalto then elected to walk the 5-7, 150-pound Becker, in favor of pitching to the 6-1, 180-pound Tate.

Becker said he was surprised by the maneuver, although he had stung Bethalto with two hits, and would stifle them again with his bunt single in the seventh. Tate said he was not surprised, and wasn't miffed, either.

"WITH THE bases loaded, I knew they had to throw the fastball," said Tate, who is 8-for-14 this season. "That's what I was sitting on."

That's what he got. Tate blasted the fast ball to left center field scoring two runs. The ball was struck so hard it hopped over the fence after striking the ground.

That brought Tri-City to within 7-6. That's where the contest stood entering the luckless and controversy-laced sixth inning.

Booker walked to start the inning. Pat Cathey lined a single to right. Cole followed with a single to left. Bethalto salvaged one out when Booker was forced out at home plate on a ground ball by Davis.

BUT GRAY appeared to put Tri-City at least even, when he lined a drive to left field. Bethalto's Brian Trask made a spectacular effort, diving to the ground parallel to the ball. He appeared to make the catch, raising his glove with the ball in tow straight up in the air.

The umpire ruled he trapped the ball, however. Bethalto quickly relayed the ball into the infield, forcing Cole at third and tagging Davis at second.

Cathey, who was on third base on Gray's blow to left, crossed home plate while Bethalto chased after Cole and Davis.

DESPITE long argument, including an official protest by Coakley, Cathey's run was nullified. Umpires ruled that no run can score on a force-out double play to end an inning.

"I seriously thought he had caught the ball," said Cole, who explained his baserunning strategy as, "Anytime you think it's close to being caught, you go back to the base."

Then, however, he admitted that on a play like that, "anywhere you're at, you're in a predicament."

IN ANALYZING the game, Tate and Becker pointed to pitcher Bowen as the key figure. After being roughed up in the early going, the portly right-hander was near flawless. He allowed just two hits and posted six of his eight strikeouts the rest of the way.

"He was the key," said Tate. "Bowen pitched a heckuva game," said Coakley.

With the lights dimmed and the field dark, Coakley also said he didn't think Tri-City was doomed to lose as they prepared to take their last at-bat — despite all that had happened before which left them still trailing by that single run.

HE QUESTIONED the umpire's ruling in the fourth when Gray was called out at home plate. "He was safe by a mile," he said.

He admitted discussing with brother Melvin whether it was worth the $40 it cost to have the lights turned on, especially when Tri-City fell behind 6-1.

When Moore opened the seventh with his single, Tri-City's predicament didn't appear so murky. "I was pretty confident we'd tie it up," said Coakley.

When Becker's beat out his attempted sacrifice bunt, the end was near. This time Tri-City would not be denied.

Okay, everyone. Press hard.

Thundering bats lift Hogan Junior Legion team

By JAMES BLASINGAME of the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE — The weather has been a nuisance to the Granite City Junior Legion baseball team this season. Frequent rains have cut short valuable practice time, and have caused three games to be cancelled since June 7.

Well, it didn't rain in Belleville on Tuesday night, but the Granite City bats were certainly thundering as Hogan Plumbing clobbered Belleville's junior legion squad 20-1.

After center fielder Tim Hogan singled and scored on Charlie Collins' base hit in the first, Hogan Plumbing sent 14 men to the plate and erupted for 10 more runs in the second inning.

CATCHER Dave Bamber, leading off the Granite City second, was hit by a pitch to start the inning. Rich Wilson walked, Timmy Hogan and Jamie Hogan followed with singles to score Bamber, and third basemen Todd Hinterser cracked a double, sending home the Hogan brothers and giving Granite City a 4-0 lead.

Two outs later Scott LeVault spanked a two-run single off Belleville starter Rich Schmittling, scoring Jamie Hogan and Hinterser. Schmittling walked the next three batters, before giving way to a relief pitcher.

With the bases loaded, Timmy Hogan got credit for an RBI-walk. Jamie Hogan then drove home three more runs with a triple to put Granite City out in front 11-0.

"HEY MAN, are we in the Twilight Zone or what?" smiled Hogan Plumbing coach Paul Kacera as he walked back to the dugout from his post on the third base line.

Kacera and his club may not have been in the Twilight Zone, but the offensive output on Tuesday night was somewhat out of the ordinary.

"We were hitting about .180 as a team coming in," Kacera said. Assistant coach Carl Benson added, "We had as many hits tonight as we've had all season."

The lone Belleville run came in the third. After retiring the first batter, Hogan Plumbing starter Jay Valbert walked catcher Tony Roth. Belleville's Scott Stone bunted his way on base, and Brian Foley reached on an infield hit. But Roth was thrown out at third base on Foley's hit, and Stone scored while Foley was caught in a rundown between first and second.

BUT the Granite City barrage continued in the fourth inning.

With one out Jamie Hogan reached on an error and moved to second on an infielder's misplayed hit. Todd Adamitis followed with a two-run triple and later scored on Tim Patterson's single. After four innings Hogan Plumbing led 14-1.

Singles by Randy Chapman, Tim and Jamie Hogan and Hinterser, produced three runs in the top of the fifth, before Adamitis stepped to the platter and crushed a two-run homer that rocketed over the left field fence.

"Carl (Benson) told me to go up there and put one out," Adamitis said. "He pointed over the fence, and I said, 'Okay.'"

"Todd's (home run) got out of here in about two seconds," said Kacera. "It was a line drive."

THE FINAL run came immediately after Adamitis had crossed the plate and received the 'high fives' from all of his teammates.

Patterson followed with a round-tripper of his own, this one, a rain-bow to left center, and the Granite City squad once again emerged from the dugout in celebration.

Hogan Plumbing had reason to be happy. Coach Kacera received five strong innings from Valbert, who gave up only five hits, and saw his team pound out 18 hits.

EVEN THOUGH the Belleville hurlers gave up nine walks and launched five wild pitches, Kacera felt his team had swung the bat well.

"I think we'd have hit anybody today. The pitching (Belleville's) wasn't the best, but this win gives us a lot of confidence hittingwise," said Kacera.

"We've started to play a little better baseball. We're just starting to get our timing down," Kacera said.

"Our practice time was zlich, nothing. I think it (the rain) effects your hitting more than anything. And our defense had been poor; both our defense and our hitting — because it comes down to timing."

GRANITE CITY SCORING: 1 10 0 2 0 20 30

GRANITE CITY: T. Hogan 3-1B, RBI; J. Hogan 2-1B, 3B, RBI; Hinterser 2-1B, 2B, RBI; Chapman 1B, RBI; LeVault 1B, 2BBI; Valbert 1B, RBI; LeVault 1B, 2BBI; Valbert 1B, 2BBI; WP: Valbert (9-inn.) SO-3, BB-1.

BELLEVILLE: Stone 2-1B; Foley 1B; Luge 1B; Miller 1B, LP: Schmittling (2-inn.) Magill 2-inn. SO-3, BB-5.

GETTING BACK. Todd Adamitis grimaces as he dives back to first base during Tuesday night's Junior American Legion baseball game in Belleville. Adamitis made it back safely, before Belleville's Chris Landrum can apply the tag.

Things went well for Adamitis (and his team) who homered, tripled, singled and drove in four runs as the local squad went on to win 20-1.

Former Granite Citlan

Petrillo resigns from Peru State staff

PERU — Nick Petrillo, a physical education instructor and head baseball coach at Peru State College for the past three years, has announced his resignation, according to athletic director Maxine Mehus.

Petrillo, a native of Granite City, led the Bobcats to the NAIA District 11 playoffs in two of his three years as head baseball coach. His team's records included an 11-14 finish in 1983, 10-8 in '84, and a 6-30 mark this spring.

"BEING Peru State grad, Nick has shown a lot of loyalty towards our athletic programs," Mehus said. "He has done an excellent job here, especially with the baseball program."

Only the sixth baseball coach at PSC, Petrillo closes out his coaching career with a 27-52 mark. His highlights include the only back-to-back appearances in the NAIA District 11 playoffs in the school's history, and a 1983 win over Kearney State for the first victory against the Lopers in 10 years.

PETRILLO also produced the first-ever southern spring trip to Kansas and Oklahoma, which included stops at Kansas Newman, East Central Oklahoma University, Northwest Oklahoma State, and Phillips (Okla.) University.

"If you want to be a good coach and have a good program, you have to be willing to put forth the effort and do things like that," Mehus said. "He has generated a lot of good public relations for the baseball team and Peru State College."

Prior to joining the Peru State staff, Petrillo coached and taught at Beatrice High School and Granite City South High School. He has also served as an assistant coach with the Bobcat football team for three seasons, including defensive coordinator in 1982.

PETRILLO has accepted a position to be an assistant football and head baseball coach and elementary teacher this fall at Nevada Public Schools in Nevada, Mo.

Petrillo is a 1969 graduate of Peru State College with a degree in elementary education. He gained his master's degree in education at Northwest Missouri State University in 1979.

While a student on the Campus of a Thousand Oaks, Petrillo starred in football and baseball earning a total of six varsity letters in the two sports combined.

"Nick has meant a lot to us in recruiting," Mehus added. "His efforts have helped us to keep a connection in Granite City and Illinois that has produced not only good football players but in baseball as well."

Sports Of All Sorts

An introduction

SPORTS EDITOR'S NOTE: Al Barnes has been a sports columnist in the Press-Record for more than three years. Recently Al has been working to get his column, Sports of All Sorts, syndicated in the Suburban Journals of St. Louis. Beginning this week Al's columns will begin appearing in those newspapers. This is his first syndicated column, an introduction to his new readers.

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

It was 40 years ago when I first met, in print, the sports loving fans of the metropolitan St. Louis area. It was the first of July, 1945, when the big World War II was over in Europe and winding down in the Pacific, that I went to work in the old St. Louis Star-Times sports department.

The Star, the Green Streak afternoon daily, was mostly, at the time, an inner-city newspaper with six editions each day and frequent "extras" were the order of the day. We had very little circulation in the county in those days. This was of course, before the advent of TV coverage etc.

St. Louis proper, of course, was a town of well over a million people and the exodus from the city hadn't started, or barely at all. The flight from mid-town to the suburbs was then just a trickle and wasn't to reach full flood for nearly four years.

In just a little over five years, the city of St. Louis was to lose almost 500,000 people and the county to grow to the giant it is now.

But, back then, the Star was hurting because it had very few readers in Clayton, Kirkwood, University City, Normandy, et al.

To make a long story shorter, not to mention, sweeter, I was hired from a small town (Cairo, Ill.) Illinois daily to "come up with a plan to lure the suburban reader to buy the Star."

The result was my "Prep Player of the Week" contest, in which each week during the football and basketball seasons, the fans in the Metropolitan St. Louis area (both Illinois and Missouri) were asked to "pick" their favorite football or basketball players, one offensive and the other defensive, by clipping out a printed each day in the Star's sports section.

The gridlers or cagers drawing the most votes would be that week's "Prep Players of the Week."

When the ballots were totted up and the winners chosen, the winners were notified of their choice and the pair were called and asked to come to the Star where I would interview each of them and a feature story about each was written featuring the pair.

At the end of each (either football or basketball) season, a panel of coaches from both sides of the Mississippi River would get together at a big banquet given by the Star to honor that season's "Prep Players."

and that group of coaches would select the "Prep Player of the Year."

At that banquet, held at one of the city's hotels and honoring not only the players but their fathers, principals and coaches, the piece de resistance, or crowning feature of the entire banquet would be the naming of that season's "Prep Player of the Year."

So, the chances are that, if you had a big brother, father or uncle now around 50 to 60 years old and was a standout football or basketball player from 1946 through 1951, I would have written a feature story about him (or them) during the season.

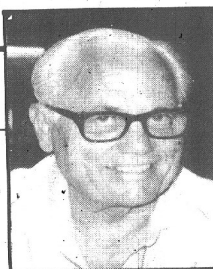

The first (1946) year's prep football "Prep Football Players of the Week" came to a grand total of 14. The nominees were, with their high schools, were: No. 1, Mike Ghnoully, McKinley; No. 2, Corky Bellers, Southside Catholic (now St. Mary's); No. 3, Marvin Stendel, Roosevelt; No. 4, Bill Schooley, Granite City; No. 5, Dick Berger, University City; No. 6, Ewald Wefelmeyer, Christian Brothers College, whose coach, Bill Klemm, died last week (June 10th, 1985) after a long and illustrious career as not only the grid mentor of the Cadets but one of the area's top track coaches.

No. 7, Sam Vineyard, Wood River; No. 8, Bob Rooney, St. Louis (the Junior Bills) U. High; No. 9, Bud Aubuchon, Maplewood High; No. 10, Bob Logsdon, McKinley High; No. 11, Bob Goally, Belleville West, and later winner of gold-dom's prestigious Masters tournament down in Augusta, Ga., No. 12, Sam Gianino, McKinley High.

No. 13, Frankie Hauff, McKinley High; and lastly, No. 14, Jack Davison, University City High.

At the climax of the evening, Corky Bellers of St. Mary's High, was chosen "Prep Football Player of the Year."

Two of the prep stars went on to star for a Service school, Bill Schooley at West Point for the Army and, Frankie Hauff at the U.S. Academy at Annapolis. McKinley's Mike Ghnoully went on to play for O' Missouri's grand old man (and coach, too), Don Faurot, who was the featured speaker at the banquet.

In the six years I covered the Star's "Prep Players of the Week," I interviewed and wrote feature stories on at least 600 outstanding high school athletes.

Now, almost 40 years later, it isn't uncommon for a middle-aged man to come to my wife's (Joyce) and my table out in one of the area's top restaurants and, hesitatingly and somewhat awkwardly, say to us: "You won't recognize me, but I'm 'so and so' and then somewhat sheepishly, pull out his billfold and bring forth an aging (and yellowish) clipping with the byline of "By Al Barnes" at the head of the column.

And, believe it or not, it's amazing the number of times that my (I'm 70) memory will still recall that outstanding prep gridder of yesterday years.

I hope to make my column, "Sports of All Sorts," of interest to all readers of the Ingersoll Papers. Or, list the certain paper the column will be appearing in.

Nice meeting you and see you soon.

Local Driver

Wilson wins feature

By JOE SENTER
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Local bomber car champion Jim Wilson and sportsmen car drivers from nearby Godfrey swept the action here Friday at Tri-City Speedway.

On Tuesday night, in the Outlaw Winged Sprint action, Randy Smith of Norwalk, Iowa, won that 20-lap feature. Second was Todd Bishop followed by Tom Corbin.

In last Friday's action, Wilson, who was last year's bomber car champion and who resides in Madison, drove his Chevy Laguna to victory Friday night to win the bomber class. Wilson's car, appropriately numbered one, lived up to its No. 1 billing as it also carried him to a victory in his heat race.

ENROUTE to victory, Wilson held off a determined rookie driver in Mike Nelson. Nelson, from East Alton, was driving the Senter Specialties Chevy Impala and challenged Wilson, but in the end fell behind the local favorite.

Wilson won the 25-lap feature event going the opposite way around the track. Promoter Bob Geaschel surprised everyone when he walked out on the track and informed the drivers, as they lined up, that the race would be run going the reverse direction.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT was a surprise to fans as well as the drivers, but it didn't bother Wilson as he jumped into the lead at the drop of the green flag and led throughout the race.

Larry Martin, also of Madison, was second in the event, crossing the line just behind Wilson.

Jack Seets, driving a Ford Fairmont, made his sweep by winning his heat race and the sportsmen feature event. Seets grabbed the lead on the first lap and went all the way for the win. Seets was followed by Terry Cox, who came in second, and Mike Seets, who finished third. Mike Seets also won his heat race.

AMONG THE drivers Friday were some old local racing names. Mike Gruenfelder and Brian Eaves drove in the special mechanics' race. Gruenfelder is the son of George Gruenfelder, long time race car driver at Tri-City and the Highland Speedways. Gruenfelder finished second in the mechanics' race.

Racing is held ever Friday night with sportsmen's and bomber cars and starting this Friday, June 21, the Mighty Midgets will make a weekly appearance.

On Wednesday, July 3, the Speedway will feature a Fourth of July Special with Late Model stock cars on the half-mile track and the Allied Auto Racing Association modifieds on the quarter-mile track.

Local BPW members attend conference

Members of the Gateway Business and Professional Women's organization attended one of three leadership conferences sponsored by the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women.

The conference was conducted at the Ramada Inn in Mount Vernon, hosted by District XVII, Sue Doolen, district director, president.

A delegation of local members led by Judith McCann, president of Gateway BPW, included LaVelle Stephens, Ruth Nicholas, Donna Jones, Joy Wofford, Ollie Derr and Marie Szymek.

Illinois State President Annabel Woodring of Collinsville addressed the assembly. She encouraged members to seek others for the organization, founded on "women helping women," and to focus on the four points of issues management for 1985-86—economic self-sufficiency, comparable worth, employer responsiveness and the "high-tech future."

Two hours of workshops on finance, the foundation, legislation, membership, young careerists, public relations and leadership training were combined with setting of goals in each field.

A luncheon was served to about 300 women. Keynote speaker was Dr. Lillian Greathouse, professor at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, who chose the topic, "No, Not Now."

She told leaders they should have members work as a group, set goals together, work for a common cause, learn together and strive for effective communication.

Dr. Greathouse urged the group to stress self accomplishments and rewards, adding, "You will then want to work and create new ideas so as to grow and gain commitment."

BODY TALK
By DR. CHARLES KING
CHIROPRACTIC PHYSICIAN

DEAR MR. KING,

How can leg pain or numbness be related to a problem in my low back?

DEAR LEG PAIN SUFFERER,

Often after performing the proper orthopedic, neurological and vascular tests, changes in sensation or pain in the lower extremities can be found to originate in the low back. Nerve roots of the sciatic complex which control the lower extremities exit between the lower lumbar vertebrae of the spine. If these vertebrae are out of position or the disks between them are damaged, pressure is put on the nerve roots causing a change in sensation anywhere along the nerve pathway. As long as the disk is not damaged beyond repair chiropractors can restore the position of the involved vertebrae and remove the pressure from the nerve root.

All seasons party by club

The Organ Pedalers Organ Club marked the end of the year with a big "all seasons" party. Decorations were from Easter, Christmas, Valentine's Day, etc., and included colored balloons.

The party was held at the National School of Music, 2100 Cleveland Blvd., from 2 to 9 p.m. A social hour featured appetizers and punch. From 3 to 5 p.m. the Calloway Nuclear Band, consisting of "Skinny" Stroud and Ed Jeff, entertained the guests. Stroud played vibes, piano and drums and did a ventriloquist act with Jeff playing the guitar and bass and singing.

They encouraged Burel Schmisser, playing the electric bass, and Bill Thompson, playing organ, to join them on several selections.

All brought side dishes, salads and desserts to accompany barbecued pork steaks and chicken furnished by the club.

Several people from the Collinsville Organ Club and Granite City Organ Club played the organ.

Attending were: Betty Applegate, grand pedaler; Burel Schmisser, sponsor; Carolyn Belling, great quartet; Dorothy Alsop, librarian; Bill Belling, Sally and Ray Schultz, Wilma Gessoff, Zelma Finch, Fern and Harvey House, Mary Evangelina, Lucille Veach, Henry Coleman, Helen Schmisser, Dorothy and Ed Bertram, Harold and Erika Atchley, Delores Gasho, Bertha English, Alpha Bauer, Bill Thompson and Betty Hetkowski, all of Granite City.

Present from Collinsville were Wilma Eddington, Loretta Siegel, Evelyn Warren, Frances and Frank Davis, Anita and Elmer Kelling, and Mary Hartman.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When a seller and buyer enter into a real estate contract, problems often arise when one party decides not to proceed with the sale. One problem in this situation is whether or not the real estate broker is entitled to receive his commission even though the sale was never consummated. Another question which frequently arises under these circumstances involves who receives the earnest money posted by the buyer.

The real estate broker is often placed in an awkward position when one party refuses to proceed under a real estate contract. The broker who originally lists the property for sale is the agent of the seller. In some cases, however, this same broker will locate a prospective purchaser and show him the property. At that point, the real estate broker has actually become an agent for the seller and buyer since he represents both parties. This frequently places the broker in a situation where there is a conflict of interest.

With regard to the question of whether the broker receives his commission if the sale is never consummated, the general law in Illinois is that the broker has a duty to produce a ready, willing and able buyer at full price under the listing contract. If the broker does this and the seller decides then not to lose the sale, the broker still gets his commission from the seller. If the sale contract provides that the sale is contingent on the buyer obtaining financing from a lending institution, the broker generally speaking does not receive his commission if financing is not approved and the sale never closes.

In a recent case, the sales agreement gave the prospective buyer is to insure that he intends to proceed with the sale. Who gets this money which is normally posted with the real estate broker if one party defaults? The answer to this question depends upon who backs out on the sale and what the contract itself says about the release of the money.

The next question involves earnest money. The purposes of earnest money posted by the prospective buyer is to insure that he intends to proceed with the sale. Who gets this money which is normally posted with the real estate broker if one party defaults? The answer to this question depends upon who backs out on the sale and what the contract itself says about the release of the money.

St. Margaret Mary welcomes new pastor

The Rev. D. J. Meehling, MA, STL, will begin his duties at St. Margaret Mary Roman Catholic Church, 1900 St. Clair Ave., on June 25. He previously served at St. Patrick Church in Decatur.

Rev. Meehling was born of German descent in Marshall, Ill., where he had his early education in a Catholic home along with an older brother and sister.

He was educated at the Diocesan Seminary in Springfield and at St. Mary of the Lake Seminary in Chicago. He served 14 different places in the diocese in the 27 years of his priesthood.

For several years he was a "troubled shooter" for priests who were ill or in filling temporary vacancies. He has received a highly diversified experience in almost all corners of the diocese.

Most of his time, however, were spent in Decatur, a total of 10, with six years in Effingham. He is a nephew by marriage of Margaret Mattingly, sister of the late Monsignor Lawrence Mattingly, who served St. Elizabeth parish.

During a tour of this area, Rev. Meehling visited Polish Hall and Lithuanian Hall as well as the new Knights of Columbus Hall.

"I know that we share family ties, especially with people in Madison and Venice as well as folks who have moved 'up the bluff,' and I am anxious to get to know these places and people as well," he said.

Along with his religious convictions and leadership, Rev. Meehling is interested in the parochial school and the children, the parish families and especially the elderly, according to a spokesman for the church.

His philosophy for life is a positive attitude and Rev. Meehling commented, "Positive attitudes have a way of changing everything. If you think you are beaten, you are; if you think you dare not, you don't. Success begins with your own will. It is a state of mind. Sooner or later, the person who wins is the person who thinks he can."

ESSAY WINNERS. Priscilla Brown and Tim Finley display their Illinois state awards as winners in competition sponsored by the Illinois Women's Temperance Union. Their entries will now be entered in the national contest.

GC Youth Temperance members win awards

Two from the Granite City Youth Temperance Council have been awarded first place in the Senior High and Junior High Essay Contest by both the Granite City Woman's Christian Temperance Union and the Illinois State WCTU.

The senior high essay was on "The Chemical People" and the junior high essay was on "America's Most Dangerous Drug Is Alcohol." Their essays will be sent to compete on the national level. The senior high winner was Priscilla Brown, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Brown, 1601 5th St., Madison, and the junior high winner was Tim Finley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finley, 212 Matterhorn, Glen Carbon.

She will sing at the 10:45 a.m. worship hour and again at 7 o'clock in the evening.

A native of Oklahoma, she was discovered by another entertainer from the Southwest, Hank Thompson. The singer said much of the stage presence and technique she possesses she learned from Thompson when she appeared on many shows with him.

She has performed at many country music shows, fairs, rodeos and other presentations in this country, Canada, Scandinavia and the Far East.

She lives with her husband and manager, Wendell Goldman, and their children in Oklahoma City.

Seminary students to sing at two Quad-City churches

Seminary students from St. Vladimir's Orthodox Theological Seminary known as Octet '85 will present a special musical program Sunday at both St. Cyril & Method Eastern Orthodox Church, 4779 Maryville Road, and the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Orthodox Church, 416 Ewing Ave., Madison.

Students from virtually all Orthodox churches in America and Canada study together at the graduate school of theology in Crestwood, N.Y.

St. Vladimir's strives for Orthodox unity, to be a center for Orthodox reflection, and to be a focus of ecumenical dialogue in the 20th Century. These eight students have been selected to represent the seminary in establishing a personal contact between individual parishes and the school, relating the work, the life, the needs of the school and the interdependence which exists between parish and seminary.

The Octet '85 members will display and have available for purchase recordings of liturgical music as well as a wide variety of Orthodox literature and religious articles.

The group will sing the responses to the Divine Liturgy at 10 a.m. at St. Cyril and Method Church.

The Rev. Steven Kostoff, host pastor, said immediately after the service a meal will be served in the church hall, followed by a concert of liturgical and folk music.

Octet '85 will sing responses at Vespers at 6 p.m. at the Nativity Church, where Father Thomas Succarotte is pastor.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. John Zabori, who together with his wife, the former Margaret Greene of Madison, and their son, Matthew, are visiting from Kodiak, Alaska. He is an instructor at St. Herman's Theological Seminary in Kodiak.

Rev. Succarotte is extending an invitation to area residents to attend the service and concert of liturgical folk music which will follow in the church hall.

They have numerous relatives in this area, including his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dortch, and a brother, Kenneth Dortch.

An executive presbyter on the General Council of the over 104 million member Assembly of God denomination, Rev. Dortch is past superintendent of the Illinois District of the Assembly of God Church.

While in the foreign missions field, he founded a Bible school in Belgium.

The Sunday services are open to the public, according to the Rev. C. Dale Edwards, pastor.

Former GC resident to speak here Sunday

The Rev. Richard W. Dortch, formerly of Granite City, senior executive vice president of PTL, will be in Granite City this Sunday.

Rev. Dortch will be speaking at the 10:30 a.m. services at the First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue, where he has been a member since childhood.

He is a frequent guest on the PTL (Prime Time Live) Club television show with Jim Baker. It is aired around the world, being seen twice daily in this area on channels 30 and 21.

His wife, Mrs. Mildred (Nichols) Dortch, is also a Granite City native.

Jehovah's Witnesses to convene

St. Louis will experience a sudden growth in population of 20,000 when it becomes one of 59 cities in the U.S. hosting conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses during the summer of 1985.

Two separate meetings are slated for the Area, June 20-22 and June 27-30. About 10,000 are expected each week from Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas and Tennessee.

Stanley Weigel, spokesman at the world headquarters in New York City, said the events, in 59 cities are expected to attract 1,100,000 delegates in all.

Ted Barklage Jr., convention manager for St. Louis, explained the convention theme of "Integrity Keepers": "There has been a gradual diluting of strict Bible laws and principles for many years, so that now many people do not know what to believe."

"For example, the Bible says God hates a divorce, but divorce rates have never been higher. Crimes such as robbery, murder and rape are all in violation of God's commandments."

"Those claiming to be Christians must rightly ask themselves if they are keeping integrity to God's stated will and commandments," he concluded.

Report reveals asbestos at SIUE

A study of asbestos levels in buildings at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has revealed that 14 of 35 buildings have some asbestos present, but none is considered critical in terms of public safety and only two buildings have areas where the university plans to remove the building material in the near future.

In a report last week to the SIUE Board of Trustees, SIUE President Earl Lazerson said the university on its own initiative employed the firm of Specialty Systems, Inc. of Indiana to conduct the asbestos study in February. Final results were submitted to the university in March, and the study has been under review by administrative officers since that time.

President Lazerson emphasized the university is not compelled by law to remove the material because the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) ruling of May 27, 1982 pertains to elementary and secondary schools only, but he said, "Because of continued national publicity on asbestos, we felt it would be prudent policy to initiate the study and to take corrective action if there is any question about public safety."

The study revealed a total of 63 asbestos locations in 14 buildings on the university's three campuses. Twenty-one buildings did not have any asbestos reported in the study. Most of the areas where the material exists are remote, non-public areas such as mechanical equipment rooms.

Other public areas in the Communications Building and the boiler room of the East St. Louis Center have asbestos that will be removed as soon as funding can be approved, Lazerson said. The areas in the Communications Building are the scene shop, Room 2030; the stage area of the theater, Room 2038; the control room, Room 2035; and a classroom, Room 2007.

Only the control room has an exposure index considered high enough to indicate that removal of the asbestos is the best corrective action, according to the report. The boiler room at the East St. Louis Center is a high-traffic area, and removal of asbestos in that room was also deemed appropriate.

Bid specifications are being written to obtain costs on the removal of the asbestos in the two buildings, and Lazerson said it will be recommended that the project receive high priority for funding in the next fiscal year, beginning July 1. None of the areas will be closed to the public until the removal projects are begun.

Lazerson said the study was conducted according to EPA regulations, and all the corrective action will comply with EPA standards. He said protective signs will be placed in mechanical equipment rooms where the material exists. Ultimately, he added, all non-public areas will be corrected in a phased operation based on the EPA exposure index number.

Administration of Justice attracts women

More and more women are joining Belleville Area College's Administration of Justice Program.

Bill Burns, an AJO instructor and director of the Police Academy, estimates that women make up 25 percent of the AJO enrollment.

"This year, we've had three women hired out of our program. It seems like there were only three in the last 10 years, and now we have three this year," he said.

Burns attributes the rise in enrollment to affirmative action programs that have opened doors to women and more attention given to women police officers.

Kathi Edelmenn, a sophomore in the AJO program, always wanted to be a police officer.

"That sounds corny, but it's true," she said.

The Belleville native found out about the program through her counselor at Althoff High School.

"It's been very educational," Edelmenn said. "I've really learned a lot. The most valuable part of my education has been my internship. I've learned some things I could never have learned in the classroom."

The internship is an optional course where AJO students spend a semester with a law enforcement agency. The students receive five hours of college credit for the 20-hour weeks they put in at the agencies during the semester.

"Bill Burns asked me if I wanted to go to the Illinois Department of Criminal Investigation. He said it would give me a good perspective on police work since they go out on all kinds of calls, homicides, burglaries and sexual assaults," she said. "I go along and observe."

Edelmenn said, "I went along to observe. The technicians came out and took pictures and measurements. There weren't any witnesses to talk to. We took the body to the morgue and I watched the autopsy."

"That's something you can't get in a classroom. They can't bring bodies in and show you an autopsy," she said.

Edelmenn said that being a woman in a traditionally male job hasn't been a handicap.

"I really don't think it makes a difference. My parents have been very supportive and lots of women are in my AJO classes."

"It depends on how good you are and what you can do. You have to prove yourself, if you're a man or a woman."

"I've had good treatment at DCI. They are friendly and supportive. They've been interns before and will have one again next semester."

For Nancy Wisniewski of Belleville, getting an AJO degree was the first step toward more responsibilities and higher pay.

She was a St. Clair County clerk for almost three years before she decided to go for a college degree.

"Women have worked so many years in clerical positions with low salaries," she said. "I knew I could handle the stress and responsibilities that go with better pay."

"The only way to go is to get a better education."

Wisniewski received an associate of applied science degree from BAC and went on to earn a bachelor degree in criminal justice studies.

She is now a juvenile corrections officer with the St. Clair County Juvenile Detention Center.

"The detention center takes physical care of kids, holding them until they go to trial or are released," she said. "There is very little time for counseling. The officer is responsible for approximately 25 juveniles."

Wisniewski is learning at the center and hopes to go on and become a probation officer.

BAC has helped her achieve her goals.

"I got a very good education at BAC," she said. "I've talked to other people who have also gone on to four-year schools and we are all high on the quality at BAC."

A CARTOONING WORKSHOP is one of three art workshops which is scheduled this summer at Granite City Center. The above caricature of Mick Jagger, drawn by art instructor Bob Moskowitz, is an example of what will be taught in the class. The other two workshops are Landscape in Oil Pastels and Body Casting.

Three art workshops offered at GCC

Three art workshops will be offered this summer at Belleville Area College's (BAC) Granite City Center (GCC).

The first workshop, Cartooning, will be from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Thursday, June 28.

The second, Landscape in Oil Pastels, will be from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Thursday, July 11.

The third, Body Casting, will be offered Thursday and Friday, July 18 and 19. The times will be announced at a later date.

Marjorie Joffe and Bob Moskowitz, GCC art instructors, will team teach the workshops.

Moskowitz described the workshops:

"The cartooning workshop will teach students to apply basic principles of cartooning to create their own characters and caricatures," he said. "The workshop will include the study of proportions and how to exaggerate them. Students will learn to depict a variety of emotional expressions, such as fear, anger, joy and laughter."

"The landscape workshop will include a study of quick techniques for interpreting nature in the expressive medium of oil pastels," he said. "The students will learn how to draw water, trees, houses, grass and bushes in beautiful color."

"The body-casting workshop will create life-size sculpture in the body-casting workshop," he said.

"They will make sculptures directly from the human form. This easy and fun technique produces amazing results."

No previous experience is required for the workshops.

There will be a $25 fee for the cartooning workshop and $35 fees for the landscape and body-casting workshops. These fees include all cost of all materials.

For information and registration, students may call GCC at 931-0606.

BAC students prepare for welding jobs

Belleville Area College can prepare students for careers in welding, can help those already employed in welding improve their skills or can teach basic welding for home and hobby use.

When enrolling in BAC welding courses, students should know how they plan to use their welding skills and enroll in a course or program at the right level to meet their goals. If a student wants a career in welding and is not working in the field, he or she should enroll in the college's welding technology program. Full-time students in this program can complete requirements for a certificate in one year or an associate of applied science degree in two years. Students attending part-time will need longer to complete requirements.

Welding technology courses are college-credit courses and must be taken as outlined in the BAC catalog. Students should contact welding technology program coordinator Garner Kimbrell, 1-235-2700, extension 378.

"The primary purpose of the welding technology program is to train top-quality, certifiable welders who are ready for industry positions," Kimbrell said.

Other welding courses available at the college include apprentice and non-credit, general studies courses. Apprentice courses are for those apprentice welders who are working as welders and are required to receive classroom instruction that complements their on-the-job experience. These courses include instruction in welding practice since participants are expected to get most of their experience at work.

Enrollment in apprentice programs for those not working in the field will not provide adequate experience or expertise to enter the job market as certifiable welders.

Non-credit, general studies welding courses are offered at a number of BAC's extension centers. They provide basic welding skills for home repairs as well as art and crafts projects. They do not prepare students for employment as welders.

Anyone interested in pursuing a career in welding may contact Kimbrell or BAC Associate Dean for Technical Education Programs Don Koleson, 1-235-2700, extension 319.

SIUE sets class in 'Stage Combat'

Hulk Hogan and associates are not expected to be involved in any way, but such things as stomach kicks and overhead foot thuds are important content for a theater course to be offered at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this summer.

"Stage Combat," an intensive five-day workshop to be held June 29 through July 3, will focus on the many forms of theatrical "violence," as part of the SIUE Summer Arts '85 program. The daily sessions will run from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Guest artist Joseph Martinez, a veteran stage fight director and author of the authoritative text "Combat Mime," will take the workshop members through their paces. A graduate of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London, Martinez is currently professor of theater at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Va., and he was formerly associated with the theater department at the University of Illinois.

A member of the Society of American Fight Directors (an exclusively theater-oriented organization), Martinez will show students, teachers and professionals a variety of techniques in empty hand combat and falls, providing practical experience in the class work. The workshop also features seminars on weapons, including such familiar stage devices as rapiers, daggers and swords.

For further information, interested persons may contact Judy Landers at the department of theater and dance, Box 72-C, SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill., 62026-1001 or call 1-692-2773.

Workshops offer test preparation

The Office of Academic Services at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will hold a summer workshop for high school students and adults preparing to take ACT/SAT tests.

The two-part workshop will be held on June 29 and July 13 in Room 0406 of the Peck Classroom Building, from 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. each day.

The review workshop will address such topics as test-taking tips for standardized tests, anxiety reduction, specific information about the two tests, time management and practice in taking time tests.

Registration is $20 and includes a study guide.

Unforgettable year, even a movie, for Kari Winters in Brazil

By BILL WINTER
Staff writer

"Flying down to Rio" has been a frequent theme of Hollywood film fantasies. But Brazil has come to vivid, real life during the past year for a Granite Cityan, Kari Winters, who will be flying home in July. And she has even appeared in a Brazilian motion picture.

Initially homesick for Granite City, she has become close to the Brazilian families with whom she has lived, and expects to feel sad when the day of departure for the North arrives. The friends she has made in her "adopted" country are numerous.

Daughter of Neil and Pat Winters, 125 Riviera Drive, she left here in August 1984 to become a Rotary International exchange student in Santa Barbara d'Oeste, Brazil. Upon her return to the United States, she will complete her senior year at Granite City High School.

ALTHOUGH SHE HAS visited Rio de Janeiro, she is in a southern Brazilian city of 100,000 that is only 100 miles from Sao Paulo, which has surpassed Rio in size.

Not only are Sao Paulo and Rio gigantic, but Brazil itself is by far the largest country in South America. Bigger than the U.S., it is exceeded in territory only by the Soviet Union, China and Canada.

It is the only South American land where Portuguese is spoken, rather than Spanish, and 16-year-old Kari has learned a vast number of Portuguese words and phrases.

ARRANGEMENTS for her to reside with the three families were made by Santa Barbara d'Oeste Rotarians, and her year-long stay was scheduled by Rotary District 646 of Illinois and the Granite City Rotary Club.

Donald Shaffner of the Granite City school district coordinated District 646's international student exchange program until he became district governor, after which Robert Maxwell of Granite City took over the district exchange duties.

Maria Claudia Victoria of Cali, Colombia, will soon be returning southward after spending the 1984-85 school year in Granite City.

EACH FAMILY hosting Kari Winters has treated her as "one of our own" and each has had children of her approximate age. Only one member of one of the families knows English.

Although Kari studied Spanish for two years, she found Portuguese is quite different, her mother, the former Patricia Townsend, reports. "She was armed with a dictionary when she left, but just being around the language daily was how she really learned."

"At first, she didn't understand her teachers, although they helped her tremendously. But by attending classes every day and trying to learn the language, she feels pretty proficient in it and her school classes are much better."

"In Brazil, she is taking 11 different subjects: philosophy, biology, Brazilian geography, chemistry, Portuguese, English, psychology, moral education, Brazilian history, physics and mathematics. (At GCHS, she was in the honors program, science club and foreign language club, played junior varsity volleyball and softball, refereed league soccer games and was active in the Mariner Girl Scouts.)"

"BECAUSE OF CROWDED conditions, the students are separated into morning, afternoon and evening groups. She attends for five hours every morning."

"Everyone in Brazil who finishes high school and wants to attend college takes a class that helps in studying for an entrance test. You must pass the first part to go on to the second part. If you don't pass, you must wait a year to take it over. The test is hard, and some students have waited as long as five years to be eligible to enter college."

"Because their seasons are the opposite of ours, her summer vacation was in December, January and February. She started school there in the last semester of last year."

"BRAZILIANS are known for their friendliness and good times. They are very close as a family unit."

"It is warm the year around. The temperature barely goes below 50 degrees during their winter and rises into the 90s in their summer. They spend lots of time at beaches and around swimming pools."

"They love to dance. Although the teenagers dance like ours do and to our music, Brazilians also have their own music and dance the samba."

IN KARI'S WORDS, "When the sambas get going, so does the party."

"She plays volleyball with friends when time allows. Soccer is the major sport, and she has been to a few games at soccer stadiums.

"Food is different, but 'very good.' 'She has enjoyed fresh fruits and vegetables with a dictionary when she left, and to like it,' her mother said. 'Coca-Cola is popular, and so is pizza, although it is made without meat.'

"THEY HAVE a drink called garapa, which is sugar cane juice, to which you add lemon or pineapple. She calls it delicious but cannot drink very much of it. Seafood and rice are popular."

"Our big holidays are the same as theirs—Christmas, New Year's and Easter—with a few changes in traditions. There are not many decorations at Christmas, although some families have tree-like ornaments. On New Year's Eve, everyone wears white as a symbol of peace."

"There is no Halloween or Thanksgiving. Their similar to Valentine's Day is celebrated in June. In November, they celebrate Dia dos Mortos, Memorial Day for all the dead, not just veterans."

On that day, Kari visited an American cemetery and then went to a large cemetery in the city of Americans; there were a million and a half people at the cemetery, and all lighted candles at the graves."

WITH CARINIVA observed Feb. 16-20, she joined her new families and friends in her city's celebration. She was part of a costume dance group which performed in a parade."

Not only has she learned about Brazil, but Brazilians have gained insight into Illinois. Kari has shown slides of Granite City and the surrounding area to the Rotary club and other organizations."

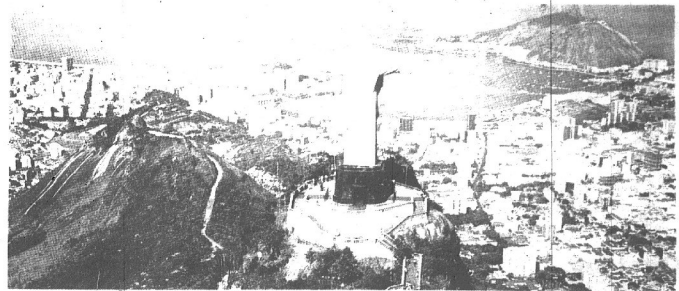

Her sightseeing in South America has included vacation trips with host families and Rotary-sponsored tours."

One tour took her into Paraguay and Argentina."

THE ROTARY YOUTH exchange chairman, Etiquette Bacchin, and his wife, Rita, took her to Rio de Janeiro for sunbathing on the beautiful beaches of Ipanema, Sugar Loaf and Corcovado. It was at a beach that she and Renato were filmed for a "made-for-TV" movie."

Her travel schedule also has included northern Brazil, which is not as modern as the southern area."

In November, she attended a Rotary youth exchange convention in Piracaba and reacquainted herself with students from the U.S. met at gatherings before she left AERIAL VIEW of Rio and its Christ Redeemer statue.

KARI WINTERS.

North America. She also had an opportunity to meet other exchange students from all over the world."

SHE IS EAGERLY looking forward to a similar reunion in mid-July 1985 in Grand Rapids, Mich. Along with relatives and friends, she has corresponded with Mrs. Karen Frazar's sixth grade class at Sacred Heart School here. And the pupils have written to her as part of their English and social studies classwork."

Noting poverty in some parts of South America, she wrote to the Sacred Heart children, "When I walk down the street, I have to look carefully before I take a step, for I may step on an old man sleeping in his home for the night, the sidewalk."

IN ANOTHER LETTER, she reported, "The rain can last for weeks in some parts of Brazil. 'I can't say I'm fluent in Portuguese,' she told the Sacred Heart students, "but on a scale of 1 to 10 I'm now an 8. At first, it was very frustrating to speak and understand, but now it's kind of easy. The only hard thing for me to understand is the slang, but that's hard in every language."

While she has signed such letters as "your foreign friend," Kari Winters soon will be a Granite City student once again. She has found the people of Brazil to be "warm, friendly and nice to me," which has made "this great opportunity enjoyable, fun, educational and unforgettable."

Nameoki precincts redistricted

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

Some voters in Nameoki Township are now in different precincts, following action by the Madison County Board Wednesday.

Troy explained that the resolution, which also affected precincts in Jarvis and Godfrey townships, increased the voter population in smaller precincts while decreasing larger precincts.

Last April, Bowles asked county board members to consider equalizing precincts within their districts. According to state law, resolutions pertaining to redistricting must be approved by the county board in June or July, in time for the November 1985 elections.

Bowles said election costs for all precincts (including election judge costs and poll rental and excluding ballot costs) are the same for each precinct, regardless of how many voters cast ballots in the precinct.

In other action Wednesday, the county board members observed a moment of silence for the late Norman H. Kinder Jr., an associate judge of the Third Judicial Circuit Court who died June 8.

A resolution in memory of Judge Kinder was approved by the board.

County board denies area zoning requests

The Madison County Board voted not to rezone nine acres of land in Nameoki Township from an agricultural district to a B-4 wholesale business district.

The Madison County Board followed the recommendation of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals in denying the rezoning request Wednesday.

Udell K. Bischoff, owner, and Philip Thies, purchaser, asked for the rezoning of land along Illinois Route 162 near Carter Lumber Company.

The county board also denied a request for a special use permit from Richard and Verna Bragg, owners, and Debra Brown, occupant of a mobile home.

The permit would have allowed the placement of a mobile home in an R-3 one-family residence district in Chouteau Township. The property is located at 817 Thorngate Drive in Mitchell.

Although the County Zoning Board of Appeals recommended that the request be granted for three years, Madison County Board member Morris Miles urged the board to reject the request.

"That's a nice neighborhood, and there are no trailers there now," Miles said. "There's ample space in Chouteau Township for a trailer." Miles also submitted a petition signed by neighboring residents opposed to the request.

Zoning requests approved by the Madison County Board included the following:

"A request from Fred Hartline, owner, and Bernard J. Anderson, purchaser, for a special use permit to place a mobile home in an R-3 one-family residence district in Hartline's Third Subdivision, Lot 1, Nameoki Township."

"A request from Doris M. Cooper, owner, and Glenda Sue Wallace, purchaser, for a special use permit and variation to place a mobile home in a flood area in an agricultural district on Chouteau Island in Chouteau Township."

"A request from Floyd Swafford, owner, for a special use permit to place a mobile home in an R-4 single family residence district at 3221 West Point in Nameoki Township."

Lerman retiring as Glik Co. president

Al Lerman, president of the Glik Co., has announced his retirement effective June 30, 1985, after 11 years with the company. Chairman of the Board Joe Glik has assumed the position of president.

The Glik Co. is an 84-year-old apparel chain operating 15 stores in Southern Illinois and the St. Louis area.

BICYCLIST IS INJURED IN COLLISION WITH VAN

Jeffrey T. Harley, 10, of 3049 Washington Ave. was injured June 15 when his bicycle collided with a van driven by Thomas E. Druhe, 33, of 2312 Arnold Drive in front of 3009 Washington Ave.

Druhe was westbound when Harley entered the street from a private driveway. There were skid marks at the scene.

SIUE to sponsor study trip to Hawaii

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a travel/study trip to Hawaii in late July.

Sponsored by the School of Education and School of Sciences, the two-week trip will extend from July 30 until Aug. 16.

During their stay overseas, participants will visit three of the Hawaiian Islands, including Oahu, Maui, and the big island of Hawaii.

On Oahu, the students will visit the East West Cultural Center, the Bishop Museum, Diamond Head, Pearl Harbor, the Polynesian Cultural Center, Schofield Barracks and the International Market.

They will tour the Kula Botanical Gardens, the Needle Rain Forest, Haleakala Crater National Park, the old whaling capital of Lahaina, Waianapanapa State Park, Hana, and Wailea Falls during their stay on Maui.

On the Big Island, the students will visit Hawaii Volcano National Park, Kilauea Volcano, the Capt. Cook Monument, the famous Parker Ranch, the Black Sands Beach, Waipua Valley, Hilo, and Kona, as well as several orchid growers, pineapple fields and macadamia nut orchards.

The travel/study extension course may be taken as a graduate course

SIUE parking lots in improvement plan

Contracts for modifications to two parking lots at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were awarded last week by the SIUE Board of Trustees. Total cost of the project is $227,592.

Contracts were awarded to Kamadulski Excavating and Grading Co., Inc., Granite City, $182,880, for general construction work, and R. Dron Electrical Co., Inc., Granite City, $28,732, for electrical work. The project cost includes $16,000 for contingencies.

University officers said the modifications are needed because of the construction of Vandalabene Center. The project includes a new access road from Circle Drive to service Lots A and D and improve traffic flow; improved pedestrian walkways from the core buildings to the Vandalabene Center; and installation of additional high mount lighting in the lots.

Parking will be increased by 76 spaces in Lots A and D, including 12 handicapped and 32 metered spaces adjacent to Buildings I and III. Plans and specifications were developed by Plant Operations personnel, and the cost of the project will be funded from SIUE parking and traffic revenue monies.

USA AFRICA

Beta Collector's Edition VHS STEREO

It was an extraordinary event, even by Hollywood standards. Forty-five singers, every one an American, gathered in that great hall to record a song that has become the anthem of the project of peace to help starving and oppressed people in Africa.

All through the night of January 28, the original 45 artists, each with a song, were competing to be the first to finish their recording.

All proceeds donated to provide food to the needy. Share the music. The stars, capturing the magic of that recording session, bring you the ultimate video event. Among the stars who perform are Michael Jackson and Lionel Richie, who co-wrote the song. Also, the World's Most Beautiful Women, Boyz n the Bunch, Kenny Rogers, Bruce Springsteen, Cyndi Lauper, and many more.

Granite City officials attend disaster response workshop

Bill Harris, Granite City chief of police, Joe Holder, Granite City fire chief, Ed Schulze, city engineer, and Harold Mayfield, emergency services coordinator, joined more than 400 local officials from 125 Midwest communities in a workshop on disaster response teamwork in the region.

The two-day workshop brought together leaders from law enforcement, fire, emergency medical, and public works agencies, appointed and elected officials, and representatives of the private sector to consider ways to improve teamwork in major emergencies, such as a recent series of tornadoes in the Midwest.

Chief Paul Becker of the Lisle-Woodridge Fire District, chairman of the workshop, said, "The thrust of the workshop was two-fold: to encourage greater teamwork among disaster response organizations at all levels of government in planning for and responding to major disasters; and to give the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) ideas from the grassroots on how to make disaster management systems across the nation more effective and efficient."

Ed Roach, FEMA's regional director, said at the workshop, "Communities can benefit in many ways by using the Integrated Emergency Management System (IEMS) concept."

"By sharing resources and working out a systematic emergency management strategy among all agencies, communities stand to increase their level of protection and reduce their risks, while improving their day-to-day operations and increasing the productivity of each tax dollar spent on public safety."

The workshop was hosted by Ernest F. Kolb, village president of Oak Lawn, Ill., in cooperation with numerous emergency management organizations, and conducted by the International Association of Fire Chiefs (IAFC) under a cooperative agreement with FEMA.

As a result of the workshop held June 12-13, Mayfield said, plans have been made to maintain Granite City's past record of emergency and disaster response and try to improve on it "by making everyone aware of the relatively new IEMS concept and involving as many key private and public officials as possible in planning for emergency management."

Citizen Utility board warns of job losses

Illinois could lose nearly 10,000 jobs opportunities over the next five years unless utility reform legislation passes the General Assembly, the Citizens Utility Board (CUB) and a coalition of small businesses warned Monday.

Releasing the results of a new study on the impact of higher electric rates on the state economy, CUB Vice-President Mike Boland told a Springfield press conference that higher bills projected in the absence of utility reform would dramatically lower consumer spending and small business investment in Illinois.

Utility spokesmen generally disagree with the forecast. "If utilities have their way, Illinois businesses and consumers will pay $50 million more for electric service in the coming years. That means less money will be available for spending in our neighborhood stores and shops, and less money will be available for business investment and growth," said Boland, an East Moline teacher.

Boland was joined at the press conference by representatives of 100 small businesses and business councils. They said rising utility rates are destroying jobs and placing Illinois companies at a competitive disadvantage with other states.

"Utility bills represent one of the highest fixed costs for small businesses," said Jerry Burnett, president of a Litchfield plastics company. "And those costs have skyrocketed out of control."

"We don't mind paying for what we must, but our small businesses just can't support the multi-billion dollar mistakes of Illinois' utilities," said Yale Skimin, a DeKalb businessman. He said small businesses create more than two-thirds of all new jobs in the U.S. economy, and urged the legislature to pass Senate Bill 1021 "to cut the cost of doing business in Illinois."

SB 1021 passed the Illinois Senate last month and now awaits final action by the House, possibly this week. Embodiment of the recommendations of the bipartisan Joint Committee on Public Utility Regulation, the bill would prevent utility companies from passing along to consumers and businesses costs stemming from "overbuilding of nuclear power plants and other management errors."

Boland said "unreasonable utility bills are a statewide problem."

"When small companies make a mistake, they pay for it. But Illinois law currently shields utility managers from the financial consequences of their own mistakes. The rest of Illinois' businesses pick up the tab."

CUB, a 95,000-member utility watchdog, is urging consumers to contact state representatives in support of SB 1021, which also would alter decision-making at the Illinois Commerce Commission and expand the voice of the consumer in the ratemaking at the Illinois Public Utilities Act, which expires this year.

The Governor's Office of Consumer Services said June 12 the new Clinton nuclear power plant might cause electric rate hikes to grow by 80 percent, most of the hike occurring in 1987.

Al Adams, speaking for Illinois Power Co., said this estimate is wrong and is "a hatchet job." He said IP expects a yearly rate boost of 3 to 4 percent above inflation until 1988 and a rise of 1 to 2 percent below the inflation rate after that time.

$1.4 million school purchase plan is approved

The Belleville Area College Board of Trustees on Saturday morning unanimously agreed to purchase the Granite City High School North building under terms approved by the Granite City District 9 Board of Education June 13.

The college will pay the Granite City district $500,000 in cash and $80,000 a year for 10 years for the building, which is at 4950 Maryville Road.

The college also will give the Granite City board $15,000 a year in tuition credits for 10 years. These credits are to be used by students attending the college's Granite City Center.

Terms of the sale will allow high school students to use an automotive shop at GCC for five years. The college will spend up to $250,000 to set up the shop.

The Granite City district will retain title to 30 acres of land at the site. BAC will purchase 38 acres.

BAC's Granite City Center has been housed in the former high school since North closed two years ago.

Approximately 2,000 students attend day and night classes at the center. The Illinois Community College Board has recommended GCC for campus status within the BAC system, and action is pending at the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

Simon, Dixon open joint office in area

In a first for senatorial teamwork in Illinois, Sens. Alan Dixon and Paul Simon on Tuesday opened a joint office in East St. Louis to serve residents of the Metro East area.

Simon and Dixon said the joint office will save taxpayers' dollars while serving residents who find it too far to travel to other offices.

"It is the first U.S. Senate office for East St. Louis and also breaks ground for cooperation between Illinois' U.S. senators."

Dixon and Simon — two of the closest colleagues in the U.S. Senate — have worked with each other for more than two decades. They were seatmates in the Illinois Senate and are former business partners.

Dixon also has offices in Mount Vernon, Springfield and Chicago. He will move the functions of his former Belleville office to East St. Louis.

Simon has offices in Carbondale, Springfield and Chicago in addition to the East St. Louis facility.

The office, staffed by representatives of both senators, is located at 8787 State St. It will be open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The new office may be reached by calling 398-7707 for Sen. Simon or 398-7920 for Sen. Dixon.

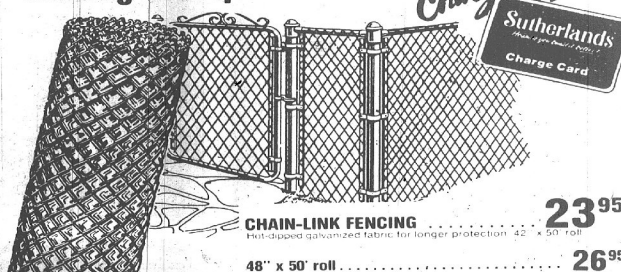

Author will address UFO network dinner

The Quad-County Mutual UFO Network (MUFON), is inviting the public to a special dinner meeting Tuesday, June 25, at 6:30 p.m., at Roustie's Restaurant, Highway 157 and Mall Road, Collinsville.

Speaker will be William Moore, author of a book, "The Philadelphia Experiment." It describes a wartime experiment in electronic camouflage as produced by pulsating energy fields, in an effort to demagnetize ships and make them less vulnerable to mines.
